Will hold plebiscite

Marketing board charges discontent of some growers has 'undermined efficiency'

B.C. Interior Vegetable Marketing Board executive has gone on record welcoming the opportunity of holding a plebiscite to ascertain if growers want a continuation of controlled marketing.

Robert Stockton, board chairman, Wednesday afternoon charged that the discontent among a few vegetable growers "has undermined the efficiency" of the board and "plants the seed of uncertainty" as to whether or not growers really want control.

Some time ago a petition was circulated among vegetable growers asking the B.C. minister of agriculture to hold a government-supervised plebiscite.

"The members of your board can see two reasons for such a petition. Either the growers signing it really feel that they are better off without control or they feel that the board, having been in existence for 20 years, our democratic way of life should call for an expression of opinion after the lapse of those years," Mr. Stockton said.

WEAKENED BOARD

"Whatever the reason behind the petition, it has certainly weakened the hands of your board, and after giving the matter full consideration, the chairman... was instructed to meet with the chairman of the B.C. Interior Vegetable Growers' Association, and request that the minister order a plebiscite."

Registration of producers is now underway, and the list will close September 30. Vote will be taken before September 30.

Commenting on the proposed plebiscite, Bernard Pow, president of the B.C. Interior Vegetable Growers' Association, cautioned producers to "think before you vote."

In a prepared statement, Mr. Pow said "... we realize that movement of our crops and prices received may not have given satisfaction to our members, but without control, movement would not have been improved and prices... would have been reduced to the barest possible minimum."

Mr. Pow recalled the poor prices

he opined, because of cheap land and cheap water.

"The plebiscite about to be taken is one of extreme importance to all growers and the executive... is definitely in favor of controls, along with a conscientious and persistent program for adjusting to the changing marketing conditions and to improve sales methods," Mr. Pow said.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

The IVGA president warned growers to remember weather conditions in the last few years have been below normal.

"Although this has most adversely affected the marketing of your crops, because if we lose our earnings we have lost all the advantages we have, the point to remember is that this has nothing to do with controlled marketing and is a bad fortune," Pow declared.

City council jottings

Sixteen Vancouver Province carrier boys will be the guests of the Kelowna regatta during the four-day water show August 10-13.

The circulation manager of the coast newspaper asked if tenting accommodation could be provided in the city limits, and also enquired about the cost of tickets for the regatta. The youths are being given the all-expense paid trip as a result of outstanding carrier service.

At council meeting Monday night, Ald. Dick Parkinson said Lions Club will be requested to allow the boys to use Sutherland Beach Park.

The Vancouver YMCA is also sponsoring an educational bus tour for around 40 youths. They too have requested tenting accommodation, and will use the Sutherland Beach Park.

ANNUAL MEETING

Annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities will be held August 28-September 1 in Edmonton.

WHARFINGER APPLICATIONS

Two local men have applied for the position of wharfinger. A. E. Jones has approached O. L. Jones, M.P., with a request that the former be appointed to the post, succeeding City Engineer George Meckling, who will be leaving the city July 15. Mayor J. J. Ladd said that a verbal request for the same position had been received from Derek DeGruft. Council took the stand that the position is a government appointment, and at the present time the city is not in a position to recommend anyone.

BLACKTOP CUT-OFF

City is anxious that the provincial government blacktop the new cut-off now being used at the Kumbly Court corner. Some motorists continue to use the old road, and it is feared this may result in a serious accident.

CUT WEEDS

Notices are being sent out to owners of vacant lots to cut weeds, or the work will be done by the city and land owners charged accordingly.

ROOF OVER DOG SHELTER

Society for prevention of cruelty to animals has requested construction of a roof over the outside runway of the dog shelter at the city pound. Matter was referred to Ald. Maurice Melke.

EXCESSIVE NOISE

Kelowna General Hospital has complained to City Council over the excessive noise outside the hospital, especially at night when the patients are asleep. Complaint was referred to the RCMP.

Possibility that the Kelowna Scout Hall may be sold, was seen today, as a result of a decision to call a meeting to discuss the future operation of the hall.

Dennis Reid, president of the Central Okanagan District Council has called a meeting Friday night at 7.30 o'clock in CKOV's studio "A".

It was pointed out it will cost between $5,000 and $6,000 to repair the structure. At the present time the hall is being operated at a loss of $450 a year.

Future operation of the building will be thoroughly discussed at the meeting.

Lining up proposed roadway

Gordon Harrison, an engineer with Swan, Wooster and Associates, is shown lining up the proposed roadway through The City Park which will carry traffic from the proposed Okanagan Lake bridge.

Highway through the park has been staked out, and it pretty well follows the present roadway at the south end of the oval.

The drilling crew, which is currently locating pier sites for the bridge, has almost completed operations. Tenders for the bridge are expected to be called in mid-July.

It will cost around $1,000,000 to construct a natural gas distribution system in Kelowna's city limits.

This estimate was given by Mayor J. J. Ladd today following the disclosure that Inland Natural Gas Co. plans to build a gas pipeline from Kamloops south to the U.S. border, servicing the major cities and towns in the Okanagan Valley.

At the same time Mr. Ladd disclosed that B.C. Power Commission is seriously considering entering into the distribution of natural gas. A conference between officials of the public utilities' company and municipalities concerned may be held in the near future, he said.

A meeting between West Coast Transmission Co. Ltd. and U.S. Federal Power Commission will be held in Washington July 18 to discuss the supply of natural gas to U.S. If a favorable decision is given to West Coast to supply natural gas to the U.S. then Inland Natural Gas will proceed with plans to construct a pipeline to the B.C. Interior. Officials estimate gas will be available by the fall of 1956. Inland is a subsidiary of West Coast Transmission Co.

Mr. Ladd admitted Kelowna City items in various municipalities, and Council has discussed the possibility of operating its own natural gas utility, but the initial capital expenditure would be a heavy burden on the city. A distribution system to purchase the system over a 15- or 20-year period. Money would be indicated that it may be willing to be set aside in a special fund to purchase "local" distribution system where we would not be able to

Competition with other fuels

At the same time His Worship pointed out that natural gas will purchase the system in 15 or 20 years to compete with other fuels, years," Mr. Ladd said. "On the such as sawdust, fuel oil, coal, wood other hand if the Okanagan cities etc. He did not think householders negotiate with any private company, and that it would be at least mission, I am of the opinion we can five years before a natural gas insist on the right to purchase at utility company started making the end of a stated period of time" money on the project.

Last Monday night, John D. "My personal views are that Kearney, chief commissioner, board should B.C. Power Commission be of transport commissioners, report successful in entering into a franchise to city council on the outcome chise agreement with the valley of the gas pipeline hearing held cities, we might be placed in a position recently in Ottawa.

Service entire Okanagan

He said that under evidence submitted, Inland Natural Gas Co. plans to construct an Okanagan pipeline, servicing communities between Kamloops and the border. Proposed route would cover a larger area than was proposed by West-coast Transmission Co. in its original application.

Inland also owns gas transmission lines in B.C. and gas production in lack of action of a special committee co-operation with Pacific Petroleum set up to investigate the matter, Mr. Kearney said. Company ter, and the Peach City aldermen is regarded as financially responsible threatened to "go it alone" if there sible and proposes to tap West- were no new developments within coast's line which will run down a month.

Under the original route, it was proposed to construct a line from Savona, via Merritt and Princeton. Matter of natural gas pipeline in the interior has been hotly debated for some time. Several weeks ago, Pentlagon council complained over lines in B.C. and gas production in lack of action of a special committee co-operation with Pacific Petroleum set up to investigate the matter, Mr. Kearney said. Company ter, and the Peach City aldermen is regarded as financially responsible threatened to "go it alone" if there sible and proposes to tap West- were no new developments within coast's line which will run down a month.

Study distribution

Pentlagon was anxious to tap on to the southern end of the line if it was routed via Merritt and Princeton.

With Inland planning to bring natural gas to the doorstep of valley municipalities, it is anticipated that cities and towns will start studying local distribution immediately.

Cariboo Trail Association delegates will stop here

American delegates attending the Okanagan-Cariboo Trail Association convention in Prince George, September 2-3, will be invited to stay overnight in Kelowna.

Jack Bews, chairman of the trade board's OCTA convention committee, indicated there will be a large number of press and radio representatives from U.S. and Canadian points travelling in a caravan.

Board of Trade executive agreed it would be more advantageous from the publicity point of view, to have the delegates stop over here en route to the party, rather than entertain them after the convention. Majority will be filing story from various points, as they motor northward.

Okanagan Cariboo Trail Association membership extends from Dawson Creek south to Weed, Calif. Main objective of the organization is to push for an all-weather highway from California to Alaska. Caravan will grow steadily as the city.

Regatta bumper cards as well as licence tabs advertising the August 10-13 water show, are now available at the board of trade office. Publicity committee is anxious that individuals planning out-of-town trips obtain the bumper cards or licence tabs before leaving the city.

Appeal to motorists

Hard-surfacing of city streets starts Tuesday

Hard-surfacing of 2½ miles of city streets, and blacktopping of civic parking lots, will get underway next Tuesday.

City Engineer George Meckling this morning appealed to motorists to co-operate by not driving through barriers while blacktopping operations are underway.

John Pavle life member of Kaycees

What was intended to be the annual election of officers night for the Father Pendozi Council of the Knights of Columbus turned out to be more of a "John Pavle Night". The election was held Tuesday night and there are several new faces among the Council's officers, but the spotlight for the night was turned on financial secretary John Pavle, who officially announced his retirement after filling this major post for 16 years.

A member of the Order for 35 years and a charter member of the Father Pendozi Council, Mr. Pavle was presented with an engraved fountain pen by Gaspar Rizzo, on behalf of the Council.

Mr. Pavle then was the subject of an historic event, as honorary life membership was bestowed on him. This is the first one granted by the local Council.

Grand Knight George Vetter was re-elected for another term and J. W. Berford was elected Deputy Grand Knight.

Other officers elected were (all officers take over on July 1): Chancellor, Larry Schlosser; Recording Secretary, Michael Utley; Warden, Arthur-Marly (re-elected); Treasurer, A. M. Folk (re-elected); Advocate, Fred Weston; Inside Guard, Jack Knorr; Outside Guard, Remand, Achermann; Trustee, John Pavle. Trustee with terms unexpired are: L. W. Maarr and August Casorso.

J. J. Maier has been appointed to succeed John Pavle as Financial Secretary.

School's out!

Around 2500 local school children start holidays

Familiar cry of "No more teachers—no more grammar..." was heard today as some 2500 children in Kelowna schools put down their pencils, stacked up their books and started on their summer vacation.

However, during the next two months, there will be many changes in schools, with several new classrooms to be opened and improvements made to other schools.

Today is the day that most children have been looking forward to for the past ten months... the last day of school for the summer months, at least. Teachers will be going back for another day to finish up year-end reports.

September 1 is the official opening day for teachers in the fall while students return to classrooms the day after Labor Day.

Next two months will be busy ones for school board maintenance crews. There are repairs of all types to be done. Contracts for paint jobs have been let and many teachers and pupils will have spanking clean rooms to begin the fall term.

NEW SCHOOLS
New schools and additions are being opened for next term. There are the new school facilities at Black Mountain, the Lakeview Heights two-room school in V.I.A. division, the four-room addition to the George Pringle high school in Westbank; the new Westbank elementary, and new washroom facilities to be installed in Rutland elementary brick building. Old Westbank elementary school is being reconstructed and renovated as an industrial arts shop.

EXAMS OVER
Today is the last day of exams for high school students. About forty per cent of the pupils were recommended and finished their term on June 10. Remainder returned to school only on days when they were scheduled to write the subjects for which they were not recommended. Senior multiradical students, however, wrote all their subjects. Results will be sent out from the department of education about the end of July.

For most of the younger children the next two months mean one long holiday at the beach or in the playgrounds, but for older students it means getting a job and earning a few dollars for clothes and books so that they can continue their studies without being a burden to parents. Even the ten and twelve year olds will find picking beans and keeping an eye on younger children an easy way to make a few extra pennies for regatta.

For teachers it means six weeks of summer school for some, an extended holiday trip for others, and an extra summer job for a few, and for some a couple of months at home with the family, spent at the beach or in the garden.

For parents it means extra hours of guidance on their part since the long idle hours do not always hold sufficient activities for kiddies with unlimited energies.

By the time September rolls around even the youngsters will be anxious for school to re-open.

Top-notch athletes to compete in interior meet on Saturday

Entries from coastal and interior clubs for the B.C. Interior Track and Field meet at City Park on Saturday to date total 76. New Westminster and Victoria are expected to enter, and this will boost number of contestants to around 90.

With a large contingent of coast athletes returning home from U.S. universities, competition should be keen, in this star-studded list of contestants.

Interior clubs entered are Salmon Arm, Enderby, Vernon, Kelowna and Trail, with the balance from Vancouver and the Island.

Some of the top-notch Vancouver athletes entered are: Doug Clement, University of Oregon student, half-mile specialist; John Pavlich, shot-put wizard; Bob Reid, pole-vaulter who set a record of 13' 1" last week, 13' better than the interior record; Pete McCart, high school miler with a time of 4:29, and Gerry Swann, three-mile entry from New Westminster. Swann, who attends Western Washington College of Education, holds the record for junior colleges of 9:24.7 in the two-mile event.

Brightest prospect from the Okanagan is Jerry Reimer, Enderby high jumper who cleared 6' 4" in last week's trials in Kelowna, two inches over the juvenile record. Kelowna's Russell Handlin will also prove to be a competitive threat in the high jump.

Larry Yakimovich, Vernon's speedy 100 and 220 man who took top honors in these events in the high school track meet this year will be a Valley star in these events.

Yvonne Allan of Salmon Arm, record-breaking hurdler in the school meet, can also be looked to for some speedy performance.

The individual athletes entered in all events at press time, with their clubs, are:

Rifle chatter

Gordon Rasmussen, of Vernon, was high shot at the BCD's Vernon branch shoot of the rifle association on Sunday at the Vernon military range, with 107 out of a possible 175.

Rasmussen, a tyro, elected to take the Tyro aggregate prize, letting G. H. Farquharson win the senior class with 106.

Second place tyro was Glenda Hill, of Kelowna, with 104, who gave an outstanding performance, winning all three ranges in her class.

There were 28 entrants from valley points, probably the lowest entry on record for a shoot of this calibre.

Sunny weather with a brisk breeze made shooting conditions pleasant, and a feature of the day was the outstanding performance of certain tyros who shot their way into the senior class by high scoring.

The senior 200-yard range, won by G. H. Farquharson, was a four-way tie broken by Mr. Farquharson with 24 of 25.

Only possible of the day was scored by Dan Hughes of Kelowna, with 50 of 50 in the 500 yards premier position.

Mike Lee of Vernon won the junior grand aggregate with 181 points. Winning team by two points was Vernon, nosing out Kelowna.

Bill Parnell plans to enter mile race

BILL PARNELL

Bill Parnell, local high school teacher, hasn't hung up his spikes for keeps. He plans entering the mile and possibly the three-mile event in the B.C. Interior Track and Field meet this Saturday.

Mr. Parnell, twice a member of Canada's Olympic team, and twice a British Empire Games contestant, was the winner of the mile event at Auckland, New Zealand in 1950. His time was 4:11.

Fastest time he has made in the mile is 4:09.6, made in an NCAA playoff meet in Seattle.

Mr. Parnell still holds the Canadian native outdoor half-mile record, with a time of 1:52.7.

He also held the native mile record, until Rich Ferguson took it at last year's B.E. Games in Vancouver.

A former resident of Vancouver, Bill took part in the 1948 Olympics, the 1952 Olympics, and the British Empire Games in 1950-54. Bill plans to regard Saturday's race as a work-out, and a chance to assess his present condition.

Sr. golfers plan match in Vernon

An entry of 50 golfers is expected in the Okanagan Senior Golfers tournament at Vernon on Sunday, according to Frank Burkholder, president of the group.

The golfers, playing with full handicaps, will be separated into five classes, according to age groups and low net score for the 18 holes will be awarded the Plaza Cup, presently held by Bill Chalmers of Penticton, who won it in Kelowna last year.

The five groups, 50-55, 55-60, 60-65, 65-70, and over, will receive separate prizes for each winner.

Last year was the first year of play, after two years of organization by the founder and prime mover, Mr. Burkholder. The Plaza Cup was donated by Ernie Trutch, owner of the Plaza Hotel, Kamloops.

The formation of the senior group was enthusiastically received by valley golfers. Schedule of play on their tournament day is not quite as rigorous as that played by the younger golfers.

Nine of the 18 holes will be played in the morning, and after lunch, at a pace commensurate with the age of dignity.

Mr. Burkholder was one of two governors appointed this year to the board of the B.C. association, at the recent provincial tournament in Vancouver. Other governor appointed was Larry McGrooy, for Vancouver Island.

Churches hold annual picnic at Woods Lake

WINFIELD—More than two hundred members of the United Church congregations of Bannockburn, Rutland, Okanagan Centre, Winfield, and Oyama gathered at "The Spot", Woods Lake, last Sunday morning for the annual outdoor service.

The special service commemorated the thirtieth anniversary of the United Church of Canada. The minister, Rev. P. H. Mallett, spoke from the text "I have a 'goodly heritage' (Psalm 16/0), pointing out the rich heritage of faith and devotion that had come from the three united traditions: Presbyterianism, Congregationalism and Methodism.

He further pointed out that this heritage could be traced through the Anglican and Roman communions back to the Apostolic Church. He stressed Christ's prayer "that they all may be one," that "the world might know," and said that the United Church will continue to work and pray for further union amongst the followers of Christ.

A combined choir from Rutland and Winfield sang an anthem setting of Psalm 150: "Praise Ye the Lord" by M. L. McPhail, with Mrs. John Klassen at the organ.

The kind hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. A. Larsen in extending the use of their beautiful grounds was much appreciated. The public address equipment was loaned by Company, Ottawa. The stamp was designed by Laurence Hyde, of Ottawa.

After the service most of the families stayed for picnic lunches and fellowship.

By JIM TREADGOLD

(Editor's Note—As a service to anglers, The Kelowna Courier carries this fishing column, by one of the district's best authorities, every Thursday. Mr. Treadgold will welcome reports from anyone. The more co-operation, the more information can be passed on to others.)

Fishing has been good in Okanagan Lake, especially morning and evening surface trolling, with nice catches of trout and Kokanee being reported, but the news from the district lakes shows conflicting reports. Probably the reason for the spotty fishing in the lakes is the prevalence of north winds on the upper lakes, which to my mind, is not conducive to good fishing.

The overall size of the fish taken in the Okanagan Lake is better than in some years. A very nice catch was brought in by Bob Williams, the largest going around 3 1/2 pounds. The catch was made in the Bear Creek area, using a white spotted No. 6 Flatfish.

The biological staff of the B.C. Game Commission have been collecting scale samples and records of catches made on Okanagan Lake and all fishermen are asked to co-operate in the building up of these records.

The records being made now and in the next few years will be very worthwhile guides for future programs. If any marked fish are taken, they should be reported.

Information wanted is scale sample, length and weight and where caught.

Beaver Lake has been definitely spotty. Success over the past week-end was not good on the whole, but after receiving a lot of poor reports for Sunday, along comes Jim Patterson, who with his partner took limit catches of good-sized trout.

Jim was using the sunken Grizzly King fly near the upper end of the lake.

Hatchery operator Rod McRae reports that egg collections at the Bear Lake hatchery are very good. Although the season started late, he expects to get the three million quota.

A few fish reports are being received from Okanagan Lake.

Fishing has been good some days on the Bear Lake chain with many fly catches, and other days, like Sunday, being not so good (it was there). However, the fish were taking a sunken fly, and those that stayed with that type of lure did all right.

Most of the fish appear to be in the brushy, shallow areas, and the fly is about the only type of lure that can be used there.

Of the outlying lakes, Doreen and Second Fly have been the best, the largest taken on Doreen being a five-pounder taken by Art Hall.

Very few reports have come in from Bear Lake, which has been spotty. Vic Cowley took five nice fish there Saturday afternoon on the fly, but he had to stay with it to get the catch.

High scorers for Sunshiners were Wayne Hicks, with two runs and counter, with one home run and one counter.

Junior High boys, winless so far this season, put up a good fight, and held the more experienced Sunshine team to an 8-5 score, giving pitcher Eugene Knorr only one inning by strike-outs.

Bouquets of late spring flowers provide setting for Krause-Redenbach nuptials

Bouquets of late spring flowers and lovely potted ferns provided the setting for late afternoon double wedding ceremony of Edith Krause and Herward Redenbach, which took place at the St. Paul's Lutheran church, Oliver, on June 10, the Rev. A. F. Reiner officiating. Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Redenbach, Oliver, and the groom the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Krause, R.R. 1, Kelowna.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white lace and net over satin, fashioned with a bodice of lace buttoned to the waist with self-covered buttons. Accenting the high neckline was a dainty Peter Pan collar and the wrist-length tapered sleeves ended in lily-points. Skirt of the gown was a double layer of net gathered over the satin with a single panel of lace in the front of the skirt and an extra flourish of lace over the hips. Her veil of filmy net fell gracefully over her shoulder and formed a slight train in the back. It was held in place with a rhinestone crown. She wore a rhinestone necklace and earrings, a gift from the groom, and carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Attending the bride as maid of honor, was her sister, Miss Hertha Redenbach, with Margaret Krause, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid, and Sharon Redenbach, the bride's groom's mother, Mrs. O. H. Sandberg.

Games were played and the evening was concluded with refreshments served by the hostesses.

WINFIELD—Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. L. Retzler on the birth of a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Roberts (nee Pat Clarke), of Vancouver, have a baby daughter.

Well-known local couple exchange vows

Bouquets of peonies and delicate carnations provided a pretty setting for the late morning wedding of Joan Marie Mandel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mandel, 343 Royal Ave., to James Darryl Delcourt, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Delcourt, 1865 Marshall St., last Saturday in the Church of the Immaculate Conception, the Rt. Rev. W. B. McKenzie officiating at the double ring ceremony.

Wedding breakfast followed at Eldorado Arms. Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was attractively gowned in a three-quarter length, self-covered tulle gown designed with a strapless bodice, re-embroidered with iridescent sequins and topped with a bolero-length jacket, fourteen self-covered buttons. Collar of the jacket was scalloped and re-embroidered to match the scalloped hemline of the circular skirt, which stood out gracefully over crinolines. Her veil, chosen at the time of her sister's wedding to be worn by family brides, was held in place by a half-hat of shirred nylon tulle edged with satin and a single row of seed pearls forming a dainty bow at the centre. Line of tear-drop pearls added an unique touch across the front. Her sandals pumps were white satiny leather and she carried a bouquet of pink frilly roses and stephanotis.

BRIDE'S ATTENDANTS... Attending the bride was her aunt, Mrs. Eugene Ehnman as matron of honor, and her three sisters, Marlene and Gloria Mandel as bridesmaids, and Cynthia Mandel as flower-girl. Dressed in gowns designed by the bride in three different shades of blue, the matron of honor and bridesmaids wore identical gowns of nylon tulle over taffeta in sapphire blue, sky blue and ice blue respectively.

Fashioned in waltz-length, the circular skirts were posed over crinolines, and the bodices were styled with deep V neckline, furnished by the nylon, gently gathered in front and back, draped softly over the shoulders. They carried bouquets of white carnations and wore wreaths of feathered carnations in their hair.

Miss Cynthia Mandel was also dressed in a waltz-length frock. It was fashioned in the three tones of blue from a shot taffeta. Its round, scoop neckline was accented with a tiny collar and she wore matching gloves and a tiny Juliet cap of shirred ribbon. She carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds and feather carnations.

Groomsman was Laurence, Gaur-

MARY PRATTEN DANCE PUPILS PRESENT REVUE

Miss Mary Pratten, whose name has become synonymous with dancing around Kelowna, presents her 18th annual revue "Dancing Your Way to Poise and Perfection" tomorrow evening at 8:00 o'clock in the United Church hall.

Many numbers have been especially prepared for this year's presentation, and they include a variety of national dances in authentic costumes.

The Mary Pratten School of Dancing was opened about twenty years ago in Kelowna, and offers all types of Scottish national and ballet dancing. With its present enrollment of close to 150, this school is the culmination of all Miss Pratten's dreams from early childhood. She has seen two of her former pupils, Sheila Henderson and Patricia Hume, achieved high honors as a result of early training under her.

In her show tomorrow night, beginning with the tiny tots, there will be a gradual symbolic emergence of the butterfly from the cocoon as the successive steps in the making of a dancer are enacted. Building up to a spectacular finale, personifying Tchaikovsky's "Valse of the Flowers" the audience will be thrilled by a panorama of aesthetic loveliness, combining grace of movements with the harmonious master.

Mary Pratten School of Dancing embodies two main objectives—the careful building of the body toward its full poise and perfection outwardly, and the steadily progressive steps in moulding a well-balanced character through discipline coupled with wisdom and integrity.

Mrs. A. G. Shelley installed head of Soroptomists

Mrs. Phyllis Trenwith conducted the installation ceremony last Monday evening of the Soroptomist International of Kelowna held in the Royal Anne hotel, when Mrs. A. G. Shelley was installed as president. Mrs. Trenwith presented Mrs. Shelley with the three symbols of office, her president's pin, which is a badge of office, the gavel, which is the emblem of authority, and the club's charter.

Others installed into various offices were Mrs. Robert Richmond, first vice-president; Mrs. H. J. Van Ackeran, second vice-president; Miss Kay Kane, recording secretary; Mrs. H. P. McArthur, corresponding secretary; Miss Mary Blakeborough, treasurer; Mrs. Warren Darroch, legislation; Miss Mona Bent, finances; Mrs. Pete Rata, classifications; and Miss Janet Palister, projects.

Appointed to various committees were the following: Mrs. Phyllis Trenwith, Society for retarded Children; Mrs. Van Ackeran, Senior Citizens Auxiliary and also publicity; Miss Best, Local Council of Women and also United Nations; Miss Blakeborough, films; Mrs. Rata, telephone; Mrs. McArthur, sun-tan; Mrs. Alex Mackay and Mrs. Olive Day, social and program convener; and Mrs. Monk Steele, pianist.

Guests at the dinner were Miss June Burnmaster, from The Courier; Michi Tomyle, soloist, and Lorraine Summan, pianist, Mrs. Irene Summer, prospective member, was also present.

Miss Tupman rendered two piano selections, "Valse Brillante" by Chopin, and as an encore "Bagatelle". Miss Tomyle chose as her vocal numbers "Silent Strings" by Bantock, and "Spring" by Handel.

Members of the local Soroptomist Club have been invited to attend the installation dinner of the Penitence club and to take charge of the installing of the officers of that group.

Citizenship talk given W.I. members

EAST KELOWNA—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held last week in the community hall, some fifteen members being present.

After the singing of the Institute Ode, the president welcomed a new member and a visitor.

In the regular news letter issued by Mrs. S. E. Gummow, superintendent of B.C. Women's Institutes, she states the big news item of the month is the "Henry Marshall Tory" award for an outstanding contribution to Canada adult education which went to the Federated Women's Institutes of Canada and the Canadian Radio College.

The citation to the Institute speaks of their good work, and unique contribution to the lives of thousands of Canadians and for service abroad. The award will be presented at the biennial convention of the Federated Women's Institutes to be held in Winnipeg in June.

Mrs. J. Evans and Mrs. C. Rose volunteered to assist the nurse at the baby clinic.

The meeting recessed for tea, the hostesses for the afternoon being

Mrs. C. Rose, Mrs. P. Stankov and Mrs. C. J. Wilson. Mrs. T. F. McWilliams later gave an interesting and informative talk on "Citizenship", speaking on the women's institutes and the good work they do, not only in Canada, but all over the world.

The word growth is one we must keep in our hearts. There is no state of rest. Only with work can we progress. Anything good can only be earned by work, she said.

Speaking of new Canadians, Mrs. McWilliams suggested that a visit from a neighbor would be welcomed by the newcomers.

The president thanked Mrs. McWilliams on behalf of the visitors and members for her interesting talk. The next meeting will be held August 10.

Lutheran ladies fete two brides

Two showers, convened by the Ladies' Aid of First Lutheran Church, were held in the parish hall last week. First was given in honor of Miss Elsie Rauch, whose marriage to "Mac" MacRoberts takes place this Saturday, and held on Wednesday evening. Second was for Evelyn Sauer, who is to be married on July 2 to Dick Wilson. It took place on Friday.

Both were miscellaneous surprise showers and the bride in each instance was seated in a specially decorated chair and the gifts presented to her on a special table. Miss

These days most people work under pressure, worry more, sleep less. This strain on body and brain makes physical fitness easier to lose—harder to regain. Today's tense living, lowered resistance, overwork, worry—any of these may affect normal kidney action. When kidneys get out of order, excess acids and wastes remain in the system. Then backache, disturbed rest, that "vired-out" heavy-headed feeling often follow. That's the time to take Dadd's Kidney Pills. Dadd's stimulate the kidneys to normal action. Stock car racing suspended until July 10 so that new track can be constructed Stock car racing in Kelowna has been suspended until July 10 so that the Knox Mountain race track can be completely rebuilt.

Decision was made at an executive meeting last night. Drivers and car owners agreed to forfeit their purses so that a new track surface can be prepared.

Track committee chairman Andy Ollerich said it will be necessary to dig out a portion of the track and bank the ends up to a height of four feet with the sides of the straightaway tapered to two feet.

SUNDAY RACING
About 18 inches of shale will be rolled in with an adhesive binder. Club officials said a hard-surfaced track is out of the question for the time being.

In order to revive spectator interest, it was decided to revive Sunday afternoon racing.

Meanwhile drivers and car owners are organizing work parties. While most of the work on the track surface and the re-surfacing will be contracted for, the 15 dump trucks needed for the big job will be volunteered by people interested in the future of the sport.

The club will give all donors a complimentary ticket to the current season's racing, and will supply fuel while trucks are being used.

Car owners felt the move would be beneficial to them, since the condition of the track has been hard on cars and drivers alike.

PRESIDENT RESIGNS
Since the local track is going to be idle for July 1, some of the boys will go to Enderby, accepting an offer which they previously turned down in favor of staging their own meet.

A letter from Harry Mitchell, expressing his need to resign his position of president due to pressure of business, was read and accepted. New president will be elected at the next general meeting.

Alfred Pineau war veteran passes away

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon in the chapel of Kelowna Funeral Directors for the late Alfred Pineau, an East Kelowna resident who died suddenly last Monday afternoon.

Mr. Pineau was born 58 years ago in Rustico, P.E.I. and came west in 1928, settling in Vancouver for two years before coming to Kelowna. He had suffered from a heart condition for many years and had to retire from his farm labor at an early age. He served with the Royal Canadian Engineers from 1915 to 1919 and for two of those years was in action in France. He married Lorea Beatrice Leeson in Kelowna in 1942.

Surviving him besides his wife are his three small children, Irene, 12, Judy, 9, and Freddy, 4; and a sister, Mrs. D. (Julia) Brown at Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The Rev. J. E. W. Snowden officiated at the funeral services with Edwin M. Field, Lou E. Seeger, Peter Neilson, Alexander O. Robertson, John D. Evans and Thomas R. Carter acting as pallbearers. Burial followed in Kelowna cemetery.

BENVOULIN — Final season's meeting of the McMillan Circle of the Benvoulin United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Fisher. Ten members were present.

Letters were read thanking the McMillan Circle for the parcels which were sent to Korea and Burns Lake. Plans were made for a raspberry social, place and date to be announced later.

The school picnic is being held today from 1.00 p.m. to 8.00 p.m.

S. M. Simpson Ltd. favors continuation of forest management plan in B.C.

Continuation in principle of the forest management licence scheme and the granting of adequate areas to the two companies is vital for the future prosperity of the lumber industry in this area, Allan Moss, woodlands manager of S. M. Simpson Limited, told the Royal Commission on Forestry, sitting in Penticton this week. He presented a brief on behalf of S. M. Simpson Limited and Trautman and Garraway Limited of Peachland.

Brief stated that if an adequate supply of timber was available to the companies to ensure the existing mill cut, it would be possible to utilize existing sawmill waste for higher uses than the present ones of domestic and industrial fuel. It would also be possible to utilize lodgepole pine and small size material of other species. A development of a new type of fruit container would also be a probability.

The brief pointed out that the Simpson mill and box plant are now utilizing 25,959 PBM. Thirty-nine per cent of this amount comes from the forest management licence.

No. 9, while the remainder comes from the Mission Creek area and private sources. The latter source is undependable and the Mission Creek area will be exhausted in from ten to fifteen years.

At the present 65 per cent of the logs brought into the plant is diverted in the form of slabs, edgings, sawdust and shavings to domestic fuel and to providing fuel for the mill. Increasing costs of operation make higher utilization of this waste necessary but the plans to provide for higher utilization, which are well advanced, cannot be carried out unless there is assurance that the existing sawmill cut can be maintained and the requisite volume of waste available for the proposed new operations.

Construction of a higher utilization plant would also make possible the use of a proportion of lodgepole pine in the new plant. This may even require the installation of a special sawing unit.

The development of a new container for the fruit industry into which considerable research has been made "appear to be very close at the present time, provided that suitable arrangements can be made for additional forest management licence areas."

The brief also states that "the solution for our company, our community and the Central Okanagan rests in forest management licences of an adequate extent to ensure the existing mill cut. These areas would be managed to ensure future prosperity."

Swim instructors' course opens at Aquatic on June 25

Red Cross swimming instructors' course will be held here June 25-28 under the direction of Max Howell, director of swimming and water safety for B.C.

Course will be the only one conducted in the interior, and representatives from Kimberley north to Prince George will attend the four-day school.

Aquatic Club manager Percy Dowdton stated that each person chosen to teach children to swim at the aquatic this year, must be a qualified instructor. Certificates will be granted according to the grading obtained by individuals concerned.

Dowdton also announced that the Aquatic free swim classes will commence July 4. Registration takes place Friday and Saturday of this week. Classes offered include beginners; intermediate; classes for junior, intermediate and senior Red Cross swim badges; diving and lifesaving classes, and special course for adults.

Children will be tested periodically and will take part in weekly aquatics.

Parents are advised to fill out a swimmers' application form which appears on the sports page. Forms should be returned to the aquatic on Friday or Saturday.

Navy officer selected for gunnery course

Lieut. Roy Greening has been selected to take a special course in gunnery aboard a destroyer, cruiser and aircraft carrier on the Atlantic coast.

Local navy league officials said six officers from B.C. will join 20 others from across Canada. Course is designed to give them an introduction to naval gunnery.

Lieut. Greening will also attend a special course in seamanship at HMCS Stadacona at Halifax, in order to give advanced instruction to sea cadets when the local group re-assembles this fall.

A worthy cause

There are few things that appeal more to our sympathy than a sick child, and for this reason there are few charitable campaigns that will appeal more to the generous public of Kelowna than that for the building fund of the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children which commences this week.

It is true that the Solarium is at Victoria, but it nevertheless serves the Interior as well. Twenty Kelowna children have been restored to health there and these twenty local youngsters have received approximately 5,500 patient-days of care. So the institution does serve this area. As a matter of fact more than half the patients come from the mainland area and a great proportion of these from the Interior.

The Solarium is the only hospital in British Columbia that provides long-term care for seriously crippled children. All suffering children are welcome, regardless of race, creed or their families' ability to pay. Since its founding in 1927 handicapped children of this province have been given more than 500,000 patient-days of care and treatment. Young patients come to the Solarium with bone infections, deformities, rheumatic heart disease, allergies, asthma and malnutrition and many other diseases. More than 2,000 children have been cured or vastly improved, freed from the bondage of pain and disablement.

But now the institution is faced with the problem of a new building. The program calls for an expenditure of $929,000 of which $534,000 is being sought in voluntary contributions from philanthropic individuals, corporations, clubs and organizations. The balance will come largely from government grants.

In Kelowna C. R. Bull has consented to head this very worthy campaign committee and he expects to have it rolling during the next few days. There is no quota being set for Kelowna or other interior cities. Nevertheless, the work of the institution is so worthy that this and other cities should readily provide substantial contributions to its building fund. It may be that our own child or the youngster next door through some ill-fate may find it necessary to seek the care or training the institution provides.

Cinderella story

Small and unglamorous cull apple now returns grower new-found wealth through processing; poor fruit no longer dumped or fed to pigs

The Cinderella story of the cull apple was told to a meeting of Vernon and district locals; B.C. Fruit Growers' Association by R. P. "Tiny" Walrod, general manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Limited and manager of the grower-owned B.C. Fruit Processors Limited.

Not long ago cull apples—fruit which had a blemish or bruise; was under-sized or not colored, was hauled away from packing houses and fed to pigs. Others were just dumped.

Happily for the fruit growers, what is called a "complete line" of those days have gone forever. The small and unglamorous cull is now converted into table delicacies which tickle the palate of epicures and gourmets. These return approximately one dollar an apple box (loose) to the grower from their own plant, B.C. Fruit Processors Limited.

Before 1948, the objective of the fruit processing plant was to make use of the cull apple. Its second objective has been to process more and more commercial fruit.

Last season the grower-owned firm handled around 34,000 tons of apples. This figure includes both culls and commercial fruit, particularly the basis of 60 loose boxes to the ton, it represents more than 2,000,000 loose boxes.

The fruit processed in 1954 represented between one-fourth and one-third of the entire crop. The bulk of the tonnage, Mr. Walrod explained, has gone into apple juice. The company sets its sights on selling one million cases of apple juice last year. It was a challenge. Sales came so near that mark, that 1954 is now being called the "million case year."

The demand for apple juice has been promoted in two ways. The firm tried to mobilize all the salesmen it could; and secondly beamed its promotion effort at the professions. Medical and dental conventions were served complimentary refreshments, particularly the latter, which is strengthened with vitamin C. Doctors recognized its nutritional value, and sales climbed.

Apple juice is in three varieties: the clear, opalescent mixed with vitamin C, and apple-juice.

"However, we can't consistently drink one million cases of juice every year in Western Canada, and we must reach out into other markets," Mr. Walrod said.

SOFT FRUIT TONNAGE
A great apple development is underway in the European countries, the Argentine and England. More and more apple trees are coming into bearing, and export markets are being satisfied with locally grown fruit. In looking for markets, B.C. Fruit Processors have gone into a number of new products, because grocery dealers like

By G. E. MORTIMORE

Soldiers, sailors and airmen are theoretically under orders night and day, but in fact they have private lives. At the worst their privacy shows itself in little things—a pin-up picture, a rabbit's foot in the pocket. At the best it takes the form of leave and permission to wear civilian clothes.

But there is always some corner of existence where the serviceman is a person, not a number. A friend, who served as a rating in the Royal Canadian Navy, tells me that a sailor would be seen dead in his issue uniform. Issue garments tend to hang like sacks. So the seaman has a commercial tailor make him a "tidy uniform" which fits skin-tight and has wider bell bottoms to the pants.

"I never wore an issue uniform in my life—except the first one I got," my friend told me. "It takes about two weeks to get a tidy uniform made."

"You keep the issue uniform for kit-muster—keep it as part of your gear in your kit-bag, for inspection."

One day during the war, my friend happened to be sitting in a tavern when an argument began among some civilians at a nearby table.

The argument was about the army service. One of the taxpayers got the worst of it. Seeking to work out his bad temper on someone else, he left his companions and wandered over to my friend. He drew my friend into talk, and then stirred up a dispute.

"I paid for that uniform you're wearing," the civilian said, pointing an angry finger.

"No you didn't, Mac," the seaman answered. "You paid for the uniform I have in my kit-bag. I bought this uniform myself."

"Oh," said the civilian.

"Since you're interested in the uniform, I'll tell you what I'll do," the sailor said. "Suppose I take the uniform off and you put it on. I'm tired of the navy anyway."

The taxpayer shrugged and slouched from the tavern, looking glum. I doubt if he ever drew attention to his part-ownership of the navy again.

Hot talk

If anybody else wants to know if it is hot enough for us the answer is "Yes". It's not that we mind the temperature in a heat wave. It's the conversation that gets us down. And we might as well say to all those chaps who keep moaning about how terrible they feel, to go and tell it to somebody else. Can we help their condition? To hear some of them you'd think we were responsible for their condition instead of being fellow sufferers.

In a heat wave you meet several different types and all of them are pretty despicable characters. There's the one type who behaves as though it were the responsibility of the community to ward off the collapse he feels is imminent. He means that he "can't stand this much longer," never giving a thought that everybody else is feeling the same way. What he wants is sympathy. He will hate you if you tell him that last year it was five degrees warmer and he lived; he doesn't want anything to interfere with his enjoyment of his suffering.

And there's the type who comes from Saskatchewan or some other unlikely place where it's always hotter in the summer and colder in the winter. This type denies it is hot and boasts about having seen it 115 at Brown's Creek "and that wasn't even a record." "You people," he runs on, "would not last a week out there. No, sir, not even a week". There are several good methods of dealing with this type. The best, we think, is to pull out a knife and stab him, but stabbing is still illegal, although we are leading a crusade to have the law changed in this regard.

And worst of all—far worst of all—are the females in dresses that have no sleeves, no backs, no lining and which stop just below the knees and which commence just above Jane Russell's well-known assets, and which give the impression that there is precious little, if anything, on underneath; females who inform you plaintively that it is certainly hot, isn't it, while you stand there in collar and tie and jacket. Our inclination is always to reply "Why would you think so, ma'am?" and only our natural timidity with women has held us in leash thus far. But there ought to be a clearly defined rule against any female of whatever age complaining about heat to any male of any age whatever.

There are times when we're in a good mood that we can stir up a small spark of sympathy for some unfortunate fellow male who wants to discuss his heat troubles with us. But charity has its limits and with us the nethermost boundary is when some woman, dressed the way she is, expects us to sympathize with her, dressed the way we are. What we say is this: if the women want to discuss the heat, let them talk to each other.

Dividend? Nuts!

James K. Nesbitt, writing in his column from Victoria, recently made quite a point of the fact that on the vacant lot he owns, taxes will be reduced this year and quotes Premier Bennett as calling this a "social credit dividend", giving credit for the reduction to the new "equalization of assessment".

Mr. Nesbitt—and Mr. Bennett, too—is quite wrong. The taxes on the vacant lot were reduced by a few dollars, not through the "equalization of assessment" but through the "unequalization of taxation" which the Bennett government has instituted. While Mr. Nesbitt's taxes may have been reduced slightly, others of his fellow citizens are finding that their taxes are greatly increased. The Oxford dictionary describes dividend as being "a sum of money to be divided among a number of persons, especially the total sum payable as interest on a loan or as the profits of a joint stock company". "A division of the booty" or a "splitting of the swag" would either be a more apt description than "dividend".

Thanks to the government's taxation policy, we know of one business in Kelowna that finds its taxes increased by more than 60 per cent and this increase is not measured in dollars but in hundreds of dollars. The increase that firm is paying would more than offset the slight reduction of scores and scores of vacant lots. Further, this firm's direct competitor, under the new taxation policy of the government, will have its taxes increased but little—if at all. Further, most of the businesses are exempted from the machinery tax. Such businesses as professional men and even retail stores such as hardware have their business machinery—their counters—specifically exempt. This all means that in Kelowna a few firms, roughly about 70, are paying heavily increased taxes in order that Messrs. Nesbitt and Bennett may talk about a "social credit dividend". There was never a more unequal tax devised than this.

Highway department attitude

The department of highways pulled a public relations blunder last week when a bridge went out on the Big Bend. The department apparently took no steps to advise travellers that the highway was closed. Even at Revelstoke there was no sign to advise travellers, apparently. They were allowed to drive scores of miles and turn around and come back. Several very indignant travellers passed through Kelowna on their way back southward to make the long trek through the U.S. or over No. 3 to get to Alberta. It would seem to be an elementary step to erect a sign and broadcast word to travel bureaus that a highway has been suddenly closed, but the department apparently just doesn't think that far.

GREYHOUND

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS

January - June - 1915

In the first six months of 1915 both the city and the hospital were in serious financial trouble. The hospital had a large arrears of uncollected accounts and the board felt it might have to close. Large amounts of unpaid taxes cramped the city and revenues were not sufficient to meet bills and pay salaries. Thirty per cent of employees' salaries was "held back". The area was making an excellent war record in both the military and civilian fields. More casualties were reported and a steady stream of volunteers joined the active services. Mysterious lights in the sky caused much speculation on several occasions. A woman was defeated in her bid for a council seat; a free ferry was urged and construction of a road to Carmi suggested. The electoral district of South Okanagan was created and manual training started in the school. The city turned down a proposal to purchase Mission Creek electrical power and the crematory was organized. Okanagan Lake was dammed at Penticton and the KVR finally reached that town. The first electric iron was advertised.

January

It was learned with general regret that the familiar figure of Capt. G. L. Estabrook, the ever-gentle master of the CPR steamer "Sicamous", was retiring from the service. He came to the Okanagan lake in 1888 and had commanded in succession the "Aberdeen", the "Okanagan" and the "Sicamous". It was understood that the captain intended to take up permanent residence in Penticton where he owned property.

A resolution was passed by council granting the fire brigade $100 in appreciation of the excellent service they had rendered during the past year.

LIGHTHOUSE MOOTED
Ald. Sutherland reported that the department of marine and fisheries was considering the erection of a lighthouse on Manhattan Beach for guidance of vessels after dark and had asked for information concerning the city's rate for electric light for illuminating the structure. It was decided to provide light for this purpose at power rates.

A good deal of discussion took place during a council session relative to the maintenance of the relief work being carried on by the city. The mayor reported that the finance committee were of the opinion that at least $1,000 would have to be raised by way of a loan to carry on this work until February. Several persons had been approached with reference to such a loan and there had been offers to lend the sum for a period of eight months with interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum. Several legal points arose however and prior to definite steps being taken it was decided to advise the city solicitor as to the best method of negotiating such a loan.

Many improvements were being effected in the city park by means of relief work.

On January 6 Duhkirk was subjected to German air raids. Several attempts were made to drop bombs but owing to the vigorous fire from the guns of the town few bombs fell.

Capt. and Mrs. W. R. J. Hawtrey and child left on January 7 for England where Capt. Hawtrey was to join the 8th West Yorkers. This regiment was commanded by a former Kelownian, Lieut.-Col. Harman, and G. J. Slater, yet another recent resident of Kelowna, had lately obtained a commission in it.

WOMAN CANDIDATE
The Opera House was filled by a large audience of ratepayers gathered to listen to Mayor, aldermen and school trustees render an account of their stewardship for the year 1914. Ladies were present in larger number than at any preceding municipal meeting. The increased interest was undoubtedly due to the fact that one of their sex, Miss Jessie Port was to present herself before the audience as a candidate for school trustees. The proceedings were tame in comparison with some previous meetings.

Municipal election results: Mayor J. W. Jones was chosen by acclamation to fill his office for another year, his fourth consecutive year. Aldermen, north ward, D. W. Sutherland and W. C. Duggan; aldermen south ward, W. E. Adams, R. A. Connelan, W. R. Jones and D. H. Rattenbury; school trustees, J. B. Knowles, W. R. Trench and J. A. Bigger. Miss Jessie M. Port was unsuccessful.

One of the first acts of the newly sworn-in council was to again regulate the monthly charges for light and water to the wives of certain men who were away on military service.

At the annual meeting of the board of trade the following officers were elected, all by acclamation: president, W. G. Benson; vice-president, H. G. Panaman; secretary, N. D. McAvish. The following were chosen as members of the executive council: Messrs. J. W. Jones, H. F. Rees, S. T. Elliott, A. M. Harker, W. R. Pooler, M. Heron, K. F. Osley and D. H. Rattenbury.

IRIGATION MOVE
Mr. Pooler submitted the following draft of a resolution to the board: "Viewing with alarm the deplorable state of affairs in the Kelowna district owing to possible discontinuance of the water supply in any of the systems serving this district, this board of trade is of the opinion that, to avert this situation, the provincial government be requested to intervene and themselves assume responsibility for the irrigation of the valley." Discussion of this pressing problem was carried on at great length. The resolution was finally put to the meeting and was carried unanimously.

UPPER FREE FERRY
At the same meeting Mr. Elliott urged that the Westbank ferry be made free of all charge to passengers, quoting the high rate on motor cars as a great deterrent to traffic, thus working an injury to the business of the town. He felt that the need was all the more urgent now that there was prospect of early completion of the new connecting link between Peachland and Summerland which would give a splendid wagon road all the way through to Penticton. The mayor stated that he had been informed by the government that there were no free ferries in B.C. when he had gone into the matter some time ago for the city. In order to make the ferry free the city would have to take it over and run it. The government would continue to maintain the usual grant, but the city would have to make up the difference between that amount and the cost of operation. This had been figured out and the expense to the city would be about $1,500 a year. It had been felt by the council, at that time, that the benefit to the trade of the city well warranted such expenditure and further action would have been taken had not the financial position become difficult. Finally it was decided that the matter of a free ferry be referred to the committee on the irrigation resolution to be submitted to the boards of trade of the Okanagan and the government.

HOSPITAL'S YEAR
The following directors were elected to the Kelowna Hospital Society: Messrs. H. P. Butch, P. D. Moulin, G. A. Fisher, W. Haug, M. Heron, A. N. Harker, H. J. Hewitson, D. Leckie, George S. McKenzie, N. D. McAvish, E. C. MacIntyre, H. G. Pangman, George Rowcliffe, D. W. Sutherland and P. B. Willis. The directors then met and passed P. B. Willis at the head of the society as president for 1915 on this work until February. Several persons had been approached with reference to such a loan and there had been offers to lend the sum for a period of eight months with interest at the rate of 10 per cent per annum. Several legal points arose however and prior to definite steps being taken it was decided to advise the city solicitor as to the best method of negotiating such a loan.

There were 197 patients treated at the hospital in 1914 (three less than in 1913); 126 male and 71 female. There were 76 operation cases, all by local surgeons; last year, 58. There were five cases of typhoid of which three came from outside the city. This compared favorably with 1913 when there were 13 typhoids, eight from within the city. There was a large falling off in the patients' charges amounting to $1,700 less than in 1913 and consequently the government per capita grant was about $500. Owing to the prevailing financial conditions it had been found extremely difficult to collect patients' accounts and it was found necessary to write off $800. It was hoped that at least a part of this amount might be recovered but it was considered sufficiently doubtful to be inadvisable to carry it as an asset. There was a further amount written off for the preceding year of about $1,340 for similar reasons.

MYSTERIOUS SKY LIGHTS
Mysterious moving lights were seen high in the air above the lake by D. E. Gellatly and ten or twelve companions. Mr. Gellatly stated that the light kept moving about as though whoever was behind it was uncertain of his bearings. The light appeared to be about 200 or 250 feet above the lake and veered off on a long upward slant until it cleared the shoulder of the mountain on the west side of the lake and disappeared from view in the direction of Glenora. A startling feature of the incident was that while the mysterious light was on its upward incline from the lake, which was made at high speed, it was joined by another light which had not been visible before and the two disappeared together out of view. Seen through the field glass, Mr. Gellatly stated that the searchlight first noticed, if such it was, appeared to be about six times as bright as any star visible in the sky. No noise of motor or propeller was heard but the distance was judged as too great for such to be audible. So convinced was Mr. Gellatly that the lights were those of aircraft, probably best on host, tile purpose and thus carrying out the avowed intention of some of the hot-headed Germans in the United States to raid Canada in revenge for her substantial aid to the Imperial cause, that he wired at once a warning to Kamloops, which might be a threatened point, and to the Coast. By morning the whole of the Okanagan was excited over the incident and wild tales went the rounds. The question remained, how did those lights come to be hovering in the sky, and why did they move away in a certain direction with such speed as soon as a course had apparently been ascertained? Would the mystery ever be solved or perhaps it was a fore-runner of the flying saucers scare.

The council decided that this was the time when a clean up should be made and that a tax sale would be held about the 1st of September in an effort to collect delinquent taxes so that funds might be provided whereby the bank's loans already existing against current revenue could be repaid. This action was decided upon only after the exhaustion of all other ideas and the fact that the great majority of the land upon which taxes had not been paid was owned by non-residents had considerable influence in the matter.

Postmaster Bailey received a memorandum from the post office inspector to the effect that the postage on letters addressed to British and Canadian troops in Europe was at the rate of two cents per ounce. The regular rate to France was five cents per ounce and a number of people had evidently been putting too much postage on letters to the troops at the front.

A heavy fog which was a very unusual occurrence in this part of the country, hung over the lake one morning and proved a decided hindrance to navigation causing the "Sicamous" to arrive at Penticton an hour later than her usual time. She sounded her whistle at frequent intervals in order to warn other craft of her approach.

MANUAL TRAINING
In the school estimates for 1915 an item of $175 was questioned by the council. In reply it was stated that the department of education of the provincial government had notified the school board that the government was prepared to submit a new offer concerning the teaching of manual training and domestic science. The government proposed to put in a plant, supply practically all of the equipment and furnish the teachers. That was to say, the government would pay the salaries and pay for the equipment of the classes for one year commencing from the coming August. The only cost to the board would be the janitor's salary, fuel, light and a few supplies for domestic science as supplies used in manual training would be furnished by the government. After the equipment of the classes for one year had been in operation for one year the board would have the option of taking it over at a quarter of the original cost or of discontinuing the instruction. The board thought the opportunity too good to allow it to pass by. The $175 stated in the estimate would, therefore, cover the board's cost for one year from next August and it was believed that, at the expiration of that time, it would probably cost about $400 to take over from the government as the original cost was estimated at $1,600.

RIGHT OF WAY TROUBLE
The government road superintendent wrote the city council asking for arrangements had been made to provide a right-of-way to the ferry wharf. A letter was enclosed from Messrs. Burne & Temple, solicitors for the syndicate owning the property in which was situated the approach to the park and to the ferry wharf, stating that it was the intention of the owners to take the land, including the wharf inaccessible and closing the entrance to the park. The mayor stated that he had been in conversation with some of the parties concerned with the syndicate owning the property and he did not think that the situation was at all serious. He understood that their intention was only to put up a rough fence and stop traffic for 24 hours to establish legal proof of ownership to property that was being publicly used. The matter led to considerable discussion by the members of the council and it was generally agreed that it was a matter for arrangements between the government and the syndicate as the city had no direct power in the matter. The city clerk was instructed to write acknowledging receipt of the letter and to ask the government to expropriate sufficient ground for the entrance to the wharf.

The board of trade reduced its membership fee from $10 to $5 per annum.

The board discussed the advisability of expressing its opinion to the government upon the question of the proposed debt moratorium for B.C. After a lengthy harangue the following motion was put to the members: "Resolved that this Board view with disfavor any suggested moratorium of legislation, except in so far as such legislation might give the judges of our courts wider and discretionary powers in extending the times for payment under mortgages and agreements of sale in deserving cases." The motion easily carried.

OAK HALL FIRE
On February 14th a fire occurred in the warehouse of the Oak Hall Clothing Co. in the rear of the Blackwood Block, corner of Barclay and Water Sts. The fire broke out at about 10 o'clock and reached the scene before the power house siren blew and the torrents of water they poured on the flames soon quelled them. The warehouse was filled with a valuable stock of clothing, boots and shoes and other articles of men's wear, and while the damage to the building would cost comparatively little to repair, the loss of stock through fire, smoke and water was expected to run into several thousand dollars. The cause of the fire had not been ascertained.

MORE LIGHTS IN SKY
A number of residents of Naramata were reported to have seen objects closely resembling the celebrated "saucerplanes" which were seen recently by Mr. Gellatly and others. The phenomena which appeared in the form of two lights consisted of one strongly penetrating bluish white light and the other smaller and more yellow in its rays. They moved together regularly and the only explanation that seemed to satisfy all of the conditions was that they were the searchlight and tail light of some kind of aircraft.

WAR CASUALTY
News was received by cable from T. W. Stirling that his elder son, Lieut. Robert Stirling of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders (81st) had been killed in action. The young soldier who was only about 22 years of age had spent practically all of his boyhood days at Kelowna and his untimely death was deeply mourned by a large number of old friends. This was the first casualty of local significance appearing in the paper.

MORE VOLUNTEERS
Local volunteers left on Monday, March 1st, to join the 48th Battalion in Victoria, forming part of the third contingent. The names of those who were to uphold the honor of Kelowna in the third contingent were: Sergeant John McMillan, Corporal G. N. Kennedy, Rifleman E. C. Hoy, all original members of "E" Company, 102nd Regiment, Rocky Mountain Rangers, on its organization over a year ago, and the following who had recently joined the company: Rifleman R. Whillis, W. W. Pettigrew, A. Milton Wilson, George Hill, George Roberts, L. G. Harris and F. A. Culbard. With this last contingent "E" Company had provided 45 men for overseas service since the outbreak of the war. The normal full strength of the company was 42 of all ranks, and including those who had been transferred to the various contingents or had been discharged, 85 had signed the service roll since Sept. 5, 1913. Including the large number who have joined the 30th B.C. Horse and others who have enlisted in the Army Service Corps, Army Medical Corps, the Royal Navy or have joined the colors as reservists, Kelowna seems to be doing its share towards bearing the burdens of Empire," the Courier said.

March
The council's receipt of a letter from H. A. Heggie, solicitor for the Canadian Northern Railway, once again brought up the matter of the right the railway had of exemption of taxes upon the lands owned by them, and supposed to have been purchased as railway lands. Mr. Heggie returned the delinquent tax notices, which had been forwarded to Messrs. Burne & Mann and stated that he had already given notice of exemption to the municipality. The majority of the council were strongly in favor of some decided steps should be taken to bring the matter to a final decision. The lots were certainly not being used as railway lands at the present time and it was finally decided to have the city clerk write to Vernon and Armstrong, where the situation was similar, and see if arrangements could be made to take joint action in putting a test case through the courts to determine whether exemption could be claimed under the municipal act or not.

REDISTRIBUTION
The redistribution bill became a law on Saturday and provided for 47 members in the next B.C. legislative assembly of British Columbia. Okanagan which formerly returned one member was divided into two districts, North and South Okanagan, each with one member. Provision was made in the act for payment of a salary of $1,500 a year to the leader of the opposition in addition to the sessional allowance drawn by all members of $1,200. The report on the bill ended with "Wages are suggesting" that Sir Richard McBride foresees the possibility of defeat at the coming provincial elections and is thus making provision for himself.

The fourteen recruits from Kelowna for the 11th Canadian Mounted Rifles, the new regiment which was in process of formation for the Third Contingent were: C. McMillan, S. Ryder, H. Adams, A. Adams, H. G. Hillard, J. T. McGarrity, T. C. Chappell, Jas. Spurge, R. Hilton, George Grant, Wesley Westcott, Frank Magee, M. S. Dick and C. Edwards. As the "Sicamous" pulled out the crowd on the wharf gave three cheers for the boys which the latter returned with a will and the battle-cry: "Are we downhearted? No!"

The Kelowna Philharmonic Society made their public debut in the Opera House the evening of March 10th. The program rendered July met the high expectations cherished by those who knew the nature of the musical studies undertaken by the society.

CITY WITHHOLDS SALARIES
Ald. Copeland brought forward his estimates for the year showing a large decrease as compared to those submitted twelve months ago. There was still an unpaid balance on the bank's loans of the two previous years and for this reason it was not thought likely that the city would get advances against current revenue for the current year. From the present time until the date set for the payment of taxes the city's only income would be the revenue derived from the water and electric light plants. That sum would amount to approximately 70 per cent of the salary list and the committee therefore recommended that a percentage of all salaries be retained until sufficient taxes were collected to pay them in full. This seemed to be the only way out of the difficulty as help was not forthcoming from the bank. The reports of the various committees had been received on the matter of the proposed reduction in salaries and only one committee had reported in favor of such action. Discussion of the matter then waxed hot and heavy (the more or less verbatim account of the "debate" took over two columns of the Courier to report it with the final decision being against any reduction in salaries but countering the holding back of thirty per cent of civic salaries until September next when the cash became readily available.

OKANAGAN LAKE DAM
The divisional engineer of the Dominion department of public works devised a plan involving the construction of a dam 106 feet in length at the start of Okanagan River. It was to have a fifty-foot channel opening for the water flow thus retaining the low water level of the lake. At high water heavy gales along the whole length of the dam would be raised to permit a rapid flow of water into the river from Okanagan Lake. At the present time the dredging in the river was almost finished south of the KVR bridge and last year the river was dredged below the bridge so that portion of the river improvement was about complete. Much opposition to the river dredging had been raised by interests at the northern end of the lake but the dam would meet their complaints.

FERRY TOLLS
The board of trade again went into the question of a free ferry service. It had been found that the people of Westbank had started a petition of their own without waiting for such a request to come from Kelowna and from what had taken place it was thought that these petitions had already been sent in support of our own. The deputy minister of public works acknowledged receipt of the Kelowna petition but stated that, owing to the financial depression, the govern-

EVER WANT TO GO TO A Jamboree?

You'll find many a Boy Scout who does. He's longing to join thousands of fellow Scouts at the 8th World Jamboree to be held in August at Niagara-on-the-Lake.

But he may be disappointed. Transportation, for instance, may be just too great an expense. It is to help such a Scout that The Bank of Nova Scotia is co-operating with The Boy Scout Association to set up 50 all-expense-paid Jamboree Journeys for deserving Scouts.

Scouts are invited to write a short essay on the theme "What It Means To Be A Scout." On the basis of these essays a total of 50 winners will be selected in co-operation with the Boy Scout Association. The Bank of Nova Scotia will meet the costs of travel and of ten glorious days at the Jamboree for these 50 lads.

The Bank of Nova Scotia's Jamboree Journey Essay Contest is another example of the Bank's policy of working with Young Canada. The Bank is their partner, as it is yours, in the great and many-sided enterprise of helping Canada grow.

Westbank meeting debates aquatic park development

WESTBANK—A meeting of the Westbank Provincial Parks Board was recently held at the home of the president, T. B. Reece.

The main subject was the further development of the aquatic park on which the Board of Trade had done a considerable amount of work last season and which at their request had been declared a class "C" provincial public park under the Forest Act, to be administered by the local parks board.

As in most other community projects, the main handicap in this work is the lack of funds. A large number of people are under the impression that the government is ready, in unorganized district like Westbank, to match all expenditures made by the community with a dollar-for-dollar grant from funds set aside for that purpose.

Mr. MacLean, the secretary, explained that when embarking on the aquatic park project the Board of Trade had enquired into the nature and availability of these funds. They were informed that there is such a fund, but (and he thought the public should take note of this

"but") in the first place, it is very limited; second, it is available only for approved projects; third, the particular community affected is expected to provide for the major portion of the money required; last, the balance now in the fund is "quite" small.

It was decided that, as in other lakeshore communities in the Okanagan, an aquatic association should be formed, the main object of which would be to promote the gradual development of the present aquatic park site into an attractive lakeside recreation ground, with appointments suitable to the growing needs of the whole Westbank-Lakeview Heights district.

Mr. Formby, a member of the board, had been an advocate of this as one of the main community objectives for some time, but this was the first time it came up for discussion at a board meeting.

As there is at times a considerable amount of dust raised by the traffic along the lakeshore road at the aquatic park, the secretary was instructed to write the public works department to ask that this part of the road be coated so as to lay the dust.

The highway park was also the subject of some discussion. The president said that the Women's Institute, who have a grant from the Historical Sites Society for the purpose, were arranging for the care of the plot immediately to the cairn. If, however, this park was to get even a minimum of care it would require an assured supply of water. There was at present no water directly available for the park, and it was therefore decided that the secretary write the Westbank Irrigation District requesting that water from the system be laid to the park.

At a general meeting of the Board of Trade last year it had been resolved that the parks board be asked to write the department of lands to have them develop as a tourist campsite that parcel of land alongside the Westbank Cooperative Growers Association's property at the lakeshore. This was the plot at one time used as a picnicking park and bathing beach, but for several reasons not now so suitable for these purposes as the present aquatic park. The parks board had been in communication with the department on the matter, as it felt that it had more sites on its hands now than it could develop for many years to come.

The department agreed that there was a very definite need for more tourist recreation centres in the Okanagan, among other places, in this district. They have been on the lookout for a piece of land in the Westbank area suitable for the construction of a good tourist camp, but without success. They say that the site at the lakeshore suggested by the Board of Trade is far too small, and in view of the specifications they produced as being the generally accepted minimum requirements across the continent, the parks board had to concur. The board also felt that several other objections raised by the department were justified. The department, however, feel that the search for suitable campsite should not be abandoned and they will welcome any suggestions in this connection that may be made to them. The parks board will therefore be glad to relay to them the location of any good site brought to its attention.

Rutland park group instals water system

RUTLAND—The executive of the Rutland Park Society met at the swimming pool pavilion on Monday evening to decide on plans for opening the pool, and for installing a pump and sprinkling system for the park.

A report from the committee on the sprinkler plans indicated that wiring for the installation would be the biggest cost, about $100, as arrangements could be made with the BMID for the loan of a pump, in return for the loan of a motor owned by the Society, now on loan to the BMID.

Only other cost would be aluminum pipes and four or five sprinklers. The executive authorized the installation. The opening of the swimming pool was set for Wednesday, June 29, and Dick Bury was appointed the lifeguard and caretaker. A volunteer committee will be formed to give him assistance each day in looking after the children and collecting ticket money.

Mrs. R. McKinley was chosen as convener of this committee. The opening is to be celebrated by having a wiener roast in the evening, and free swimming for that day. The Rutland Rovers softball team and the Rutland Adanacs baseball team will play an exhibition contest, with four innings of hardball, following by four innings of softball, the entire proceeds going toward the cost of installation of the sprinkler system.

A bee is being organized for next Sunday morning to finish work on the washrooms. The Board of Trade held a bee at the park on Thursday last, and installed the galvanized fluming that had been donated by Charles Buckland.

Water is now being carried along to the trees around the park. Martin Yeast, the BMID balliff in charge of the area in which the park is located, has undertaken to look after the irrigation and sprinkling of the park grounds in his spare time.

More About 2 Small and unglamorous

(Continued from page 1, col 5) made product appeared on the market for the first time last summer. Prior to that time it came from California. In six weeks, B.C. Fruit Processors sold as much apricot nectar as had been imported in the previous two years. Apricot nectar mixes with any other juice, also ginger ale, but the fruit processors found that it makes a delicious beverage mixed with apple juice, and the mixture is on the market now in a 48-ounce can with an attractive label, which visually tells the story.

APPLE PIE FILLING Mr. Walrod then told the growers of apricot pie filling, and experiments made which has perfected the product so that when the filling is cooked the second time, namely in the pie, it resembled the freshly baked apple, and was not mushy like sauce.

The shopping trend of the modern housewife is to buy mixes. The apartment dweller has no place to store fresh apples. The box of apples, as such, belongs to the family home and the old-fashioned root cellar, and these dwellings are now in the minority.

Consequently, B.C. Fruit Processors was quick to realize the change in marketing habits and have come up, too, with canned apple sauce. It has been found that Dukes and Wealthies make the best sauce, and this is finding a good market in Calgary. "Our objective is to place on the market top quality products at a good fair price to the consumer, but also to return a fair sum to the grower," Mr. Walrod said.

Then, too, there are baby-sized cans of opalescent apple juice, heavy with true vitamin C, made from selected, Extra Fancy McIntosh. "You can't give infants orange juice too early... but at three weeks old, the baby can have apple juice," Mr. Walrod said.

Included in B.C. Fruit Processors' "line" is apple jelly, rich and colorful, also glaze cherries, neatly packaged.

PEACH PIE FILLING Mr. Walrod told of tins of peach pie filling, put on grocers' shelves in Calgary. They soon disappeared. "Now, who is eating all the peach pie?" became the sixty-eight-dollar question. It was discovered that consumers were using the filling in dishes as dessert because of the delicious flavor of the tree-ripened fruit.

Other products are on the way. You never know about these things... People said we were quite crazy when we shipped our first car of apple juice... and look what's happened?" Mr. Walrod concluded.

Processors recently announced construction of an addition to the plant costing $150,000. Company plans moving into more pie fillings and purees, also nectars, and the new building will provide more receiving and storage space for this program, which will primarily handle soft fruits.

Under the tower at Ottawa

By O. L. JONES, M.P.

A very important document was tabled in the House this week. It is the White Paper on defence and deals with some of the problems in connection with the defence of Canada.

It contains the statement "For North America, the possibility appears for the first time of an attack that could cripple the military and industrial potential of Canada and the United States. Should we ever be attacked with thermonuclear weapons, it is plain that our immediate problem would be national survival."

It goes on to explain that everyone, not directly involved in a military role, would be immediately caught up in the problems of rescue, rehabilitation and the maintenance of essential services. It compares the wars of the past with what could be expected in a thermonuclear war.

The White Paper points out that it, therefore, becomes more important to spare no effort to reduce international tension and to, eventually, eliminate the possibility of war. But at the same time, we must insure that, together with our allies, we have sufficient military strength to deter any potential aggressor.

The paper expressed increased concern over North American defence. The North American defence system has been the subject of severe criticism in the House but, unfortunately, owing to the secret nature of our defence system, the exact effectiveness of our defence remains unknown. The White Paper lays stress on North American defence, pointing out that in co-operation with the United States we are now providing additional warning networks and increasingly effective and co-ordinated air defence forces on this continent.

The paper contains several instances where the defence of the continent is being improved such as the development of a supersonic long-range all-weather fighter and replacement of the present armament on the CF-100 with rockets and guided missiles.

A re-appraisal of civil defence planning is also underway. The White Paper reassures the Canadian people that the government is taking steps towards improving our protection. At the same time, it is rather alarming to realize the slender division that exists between war and peace. The fears of the public in this connection were increased by a statement made by high-ranking Air Force officers who suggested disabling the army as useless. Other statements made helped to disturb the peace of mind of those in charge of national defence.

The government made no effort to disprove the statements made, being content to merely reprimand the officers concerned and forbid them—or other high-ranking officers—from making public speeches in the future. Air Vice Marshal Plant was demoted for his part in the controversy. Questions will be asked to the accuracy of the statements when the opportunity occurs during defence estimates.

Mr. Stanley Knowles introduced a private bill which, if passed, would forbid cabinet ministers to hold company directorships. During the one-hour debate on this bill, Mr. Knowles and Mr. Drew made a very strong case as to why it should be passed. Mr. Harris, speaking for the Government, said that the bill should be referred to a committee.

He outlined the practice in Britain where several Prime Ministers have ruled that Cabinet Ministers, on their appointment, relinquish all active connections with public and private companies with the exception of the family companies that had long associations and continuity on a family ownership basis. In England, this rule is strictly adhered to.

The opposition claimed that the same should apply in Canada. Mr. Harris quoted at length from the British rules governing the situation and intimated that something similar could be adopted by the Canadian parliament. In the meantime, each minister must determine his own conduct according to his conscience. During the whole of the debate, there was no suggestion made that any cabinet minister had accumulated any financial gain as a result of the dual position of a director and a cabinet minister. The bill was talked out but may reappear at the next private members' session.

Another Bill that roused opposition was the one introduced by the defence production minister, the Honorable C. D. Howe, under which he would extend, for an indefinite time, the independent power granted to him under this act. Mr. Fleming claimed that it would take away the authority and prestige of parliament and he regarded it as a model decree of a Caesar. Mr. Howe claimed that, to do an effective job on defence purchasing, his department must be adequately armed to do the work. The country was entitled to some assurance that the great sums which are spent on defence production are carefully handled.

This, he pointed out, could be done each year when the estimates of this department were before the house. The bill also increases the salary of the defence production minister by $5,000 a year, in line with all other ministers. Mr. Howe claimed that his department has now become a continuing one although, when started, it was considered to be temporary. They are responsible for the construction of the mid-Canada radar line and other defence projects which will have to be maintained for some years to come.

This is one Department where criticism is largely speculative as little is known of the cost and waste taking place owing to the secrecy surrounding production. Occasionally, one finds that projects costing millions have suddenly been abandoned such as the development of new planes and engines. It is also generally agreed that Mr. Howe's handling of this department has been fairly efficient and productive.

Another bill that passed the house was in connection with the current program of prison reform in New Brunswick under which that province will establish an institution for the reformation of juvenile offenders. New Brunswick is building and is now near completion a new central reformatory similar to a Borstal scheme. The only object was by Harold Winch and John Diefenbaker. They objected to the provision under which a juvenile under 10 could be kept in the home for a longer period than that to which he was sentenced by the magistrate. Both claimed that an "indeterminate" sentence was not fair and that a boy, after completing his sentence, should be free to go.

TIPSY RAVEN
PARRY SOUND, Ont.—Two men were driven from their truck by the falling talon, sharp beak and beating wings of a raven which attacked the vehicle. They captured the bird, believed to have been "intoxicated" by highway salt, and say it now is fairly tame.

BUSY SHYRARD
AMHERST, N.S.—Noise of production at the shipyards of Port Greville is nearly as loud now as when the yard produced many wooden ships in the old days. A 60-foot dragger, the "Crislie Edora," was launched for Capt. William Matthews of Halifax and two more are on the blocks.

South Kelowna PTA elects officers

SOUTH KELOWNA—Mr. Arnold Lube was elected president of the South Kelowna P-T-A for the 1955-56 term. The group held its regular monthly meeting and election of officers recently.

Others elected to the new slate are Mrs. Peter Stirling, vice-president; Mrs. Orville Dunlop, secretary; Mrs. Walter Hill, treasurer; Mrs. John Blaskovits, social convener; and Mrs. Robert Blaskovits, membership convener. Mrs. Lube has been appointed magazine convener. Date for annual community picnic has been set for July 3 at the Gyro Park.

White Elephant Sale and Lilac Tea, under the direction of Mrs. Harvie, was held last Friday at the school in aid of the Junior Red Cross. Children worked hard collecting items for the sale, and they also served tea that afternoon, raising a sum of approximately $30.

Westbank guides hold social evening

WESTBANK—The Westbank company of Girl Guides held a visitors' night in the George Pringle High School on Monday evening. There was a presentation of second class and proficiency badges and patrol awards.

The United Church Senior W.A. held their final meeting of the season on Thursday at the home of Mrs. T. B. Reece. Mrs. Dobson, the secretary, who lately moved to Winfield, came down from there to attend the meeting.

The meeting decided to join with other church groups in sponsoring a church fair in the fall. It was also decided to make a donation of $25 to the organ fund in memory of the late Mrs. Kingsbury, who had been a long-time member.

Basil Jennings, president of the Board of Trade, with fellow members Hansen, Holmes, T. B. Reece and MacLean, attended the meeting of the Kelowna Board of Trade.

Addressed by Gordon Lindsay, superintendent of the Motor Vehicles Department, Victoria. They found Mr. Lindsay's talk very interesting and the panel and lengthy discussion which followed it most instructive.

News and views of scouting

by DES OSWELL, District Scoutmaster

THE HALFWAY LOOK

Looking back over the first half of 1955 we find that Scouting within the realm of the Central Okanagan Boy Scout Association, has been at an all time peak of activity. There have been many camps among the troops and particularly the Second Annual Central Okanagan District Camporee which brought all the Scouts of the district together for a district competition.

The Bronze Arrowhead course was large in numbers and a success in quality. The second annual Wolf Cub Field Day which was held last week-end also ranks with the district as a highlight of activity. The citizens of the Central Okanagan can be proud of their Scouts, they have served scouting well and are a credit to the Founder of Scouting.

Now, as we have looked back, we should now look forward with vision and enthusiasm to a greater period of Scouting than that which has passed. We will, of course, be sending eleven Scouts to the World Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake. There will surely be a few more Wolf Cub Packs formed in the groups which have only Scout activity at present. There is the possibility of a Rover crew for the district. In fact, for this district, the possibilities are unlimited. There is a great future for Scouting in the Central Okanagan and so the second half year should be an outlook of new horizons.

SECOND ANNUAL SCOUTER'S COUNCIL BANQUET

The banquet will be held at the East Kelowna Community Hall at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, June 25. The banquet is open to all Scouts and Cub Leaders as well as group committee and association executive members. If you are coming, be sure to advise the district scoutmaster in plenty of time so that catering may be taken care of. All Scout and Cub leaders and their wives are invited as guests of their own group committees.

ATTENTION SCOUTS—A TIME TO DIE

Usually after summer camp most of the troops disband for the summer months and resume activity in September when school starts once again. I don't know what you feel about this plan but, I myself, think it is pretty poor. In my mind there should be Scouting through a full twelve months of the year. With the warm weather you should be able to get outdoors that much more. Now your Scoutmaster at this point is going to start the regular troop meetings and think that he is not going to get his two-month rest that he deserves each year; but if you will read on you will get your outdoor summer scouting and your Scoutmaster will get his two-month holiday from scouting.

Mr. Patrol Leader, you are a leader of Scouts. You have been chosen for your leadership ability. Your second half year should be chosen for your abilities as well. Now you and your second half year should do very little in your patrol organization should plan out a program of Scouting for your patrol so that it

Westbank people attend students' assistance parley

WESTBANK—Mrs. T. B. Reece, the representative from the Westbank area, accompanied by Mr. Reece and Mrs. W. MacLean, attended the annual meeting of School District No. 23 Students' Assistance Association, held in Kelowna on Friday evening.

The objects of this association are to provide help to students who require it and are found worthy of having assistance extended to them to enable them to further their education after completing high school. Loans made to such students are without interest and are repayable by the student.

They came away with nothing but praise for the various ways in which the association has found it possible to help ambitious young people to qualify themselves through further education and training for advancement in their chosen vocation.

Westbank

WESTBANK—Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Hannam entertained their "Sunday school" classes at their home on Saturday afternoon. Those present were: Hazel Taylor, Cindy Tolhurst, Wendy Howes, Jean Barrie, Janice and Judy Gore, Patricia Hewitt, Stanley McKinnon, Gary Reece and Bobby Hall. The afternoon was spent at games and treasure hunts, followed by refreshments.

Suffering from pneumonia, T. L. Barker was taken to hospital in Kelowna on Friday evening. He is now reported to be improving.

Now visiting Mrs. David Basham are her mother, Mrs. Alan Johnston, and her aunt, Miss A. C. Harper, both of Webb, Sask. Her sister, Mrs. Marjorie Poole, has also arrived from Port Hope with Charlie and Peggy. They arrived by car on Saturday.

Marcia Fernley, Cheri Seltenrich and Shirley May Gerrie, who have all been taking normal training at the coast, have now arrived back home for the holidays.

Alan Davidson attended the flower show held in Rutland on Thursday, under the auspices of the St. Aidan's Anglican Church W.I., and came away with the cup for third aggregate number of points. His prizes were: first for double-penny pyrethrum and lily; and second for "any other plant".

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld.—The recently formed Retarded Children's Aid Society has announced that a second fund for the needy children will be built. The society also plans to send a teacher to Montreal for special courses.

Total of 233 arthritic patients visited during May, local organization informed

A total of 233 visits were made to patients in May, it was reported at the regular meeting of the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society. Miss Dagny Macgregor, local physiotherapist, broke that figure down as follows: 37 home, 122 clinic, 39 in-patients, 35 non-arthritic, with 12 new patients. She asked that a room be found, somewhere where there are no stairs, for a patient soon to be released from hospital. After almost two years, the longest stay of any previous physio, Miss Macgregor will be leaving in August. Word on her replacement is awaited from Vancouver.

The resignation of president A. C. Coates, due to ill health, was regrettably accepted, and W. O. Clark agreed to complete the unfinished term of office.

Favorable letters were read from the secretary to Prime Minister St. Laurent; Hon. Paul Martin; O. L. Jones, and Hon. George Drew, in reply to those which were written by the local branch, its assistance to B.C. Arthritic and Rheumatic research projects underway. The matter is under study at the present time, and they hoped that some of the urgently-needed funds would be made available before too long.

Membership cards are now in, and all those desirous of helping in this way may obtain same from any member of CARS or from Mr. Clark at the Bank of Montreal. The money realized from these memberships is used for comforts for patients, and entitles the holder to subscription to the Bluebird Bulletin and admission to lectures and films, held at intervals throughout the year. With Vancouver editor, Mrs. Shirley Scott, recovered from her recent illness and back at her desk, publication of this informative little paper will soon be regular again.

C. R. Bull was commended in the success of the CARS campaign for lectures in the outlying districts, which realized $2,400, $650 more than the quota and $200 better than ever before.

Next meeting of CARS will be held on Wednesday, July 6, to coincide with the visit of the medical social worker.

Westside woman has poems published

WESTBANK—A booklet of 25 pages of poems, by Edythe March, has just been published and offered for sale in the district. Many of the poems are short, homey, touching verses of the style and of somewhat the same subject matter as the familiar composition of Edna Jacques. Some have been read over the air from the Kelowna and Penticton radio stations.

Edna March has a natural gift for poetry. She has been writing verse ever since her early school days, but only lately has she had anything published. In addition to her verse, she has also written short stories and songs for children. She has just moved to Peachland.

Someone among the sages of the ages has said that "the hand that rocks the cradle rules the world." Edna March agrees. The strong, self-reliant male type may be convinced of their power and dominance over the weaker female but, she says:

"Maybe it's a woman's world. But men have made it so. From the moment they are born And from the way they grow. They may indulge their self-reliance and rugged independence for a time. But when they make their marriage vow They soon slip back to where They need their wife to straighten up Their clothes, their tie, their hair."

The week at Ottawa

Specially Written for The Courier
By DON PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA—Defence was the focal point of attention in the Commons last week.

The members moved into debate on estimates of the defence department and it was plain that the problem of defending Canada itself is assuming a larger role in their eyes.

Defence Minister Campney, introducing the debate, said Canada can no longer count on being "an ocean away from war". It must be a result of war's new nearness to this continent, work closely with the United States' reaction with attacks on the homeland.

Opposition Leader Drew stepped in with the suggestion that Canada's army should be given wings—that is moulded into small, hard-hitting units completely airborne to meet invasion of this continent.

As the debate returned to the topic most often discussed in past years—overseas military commitments—was largely ignored, discussion revolving instead around the needs of continental defence.

"CANADIAN CONCEPT"

Mr. Drew called for a "distinctly Canadian concept of the organization of our forces". He said mobile airborne units, able to fight anywhere against aerial invasion of the northland, would best suit Canada's needs and would be Canada's best possible contribution to the ground forces of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The entire active army—and the reserve militia, too—should be set up on that basis, he said.

The planned rearmament of West Germany meant Canada would need fewer army units. This country should start planning small, hard-hitting units.

Mr. Drew, an artillery officer in the First World War, said the fact that atomic weapons have not been used in any war since 1918 shows the need for conventional armies. But Canada need "conventional units used in an unconventional way".

Complete air mobility was the only way to meet the threat of enemy paratroop landing in the north.

Mr. Campney said Canada cannot ignore the defence of Europe. That was the primary purpose of the 1st Division, of which the 1st Infantry Brigade is in West Germany.

But Canada had a "strong hitting force" in three airborne battalions which were the main army force for defence of Canada. The army was keeping abreast of modern developments and this summer would train in tactics developed to meet atomic warfare at the new Camp Gagetown in New Brunswick.

Mr. Campney, going before parliament with the defence department estimates for the first time since his appointment last July 1, spoke of the joint Canada-U.S. program of continental defence through air forces, radar chains and ground and air interception.

Canada would spend about $321,000,000 toward construction of the southern and mid-Canada radar detection systems—the U.S. is paying the full cost, estimated at $250,000,000 of the DEW (Distant Early Warning) line in the Arctic.

Canada could not carry out the tremendous task of continental defence by itself. He added, however, that there is today no absolute defence against atomic and thermonuclear weapons.

His department estimates for the current year total some $1,775,000,000 and he said defence doubtless will continue to be costly.

"The present climate of international affairs appears to be moderating but we cannot be sure that the better weather of recent months will endure".

ADOPT FN RIFLE

Mr. Campney announced Canada has decided to adopt Belgium's FN automatic 300-calibre rifle as the standard weapon for the army, replacing the Lee-Enfield .303. It also has been adopted by the United Kingdom and Australia.

He said it is expected that all nine RCAP home defence squadrons will be armed with FN-100 jets by the end of the year.

2000 cadets to be largest in army's western command

A total of 1,100 teen-age British Columbia and Alberta army cadets will attend four major camps in the two provinces this summer, the largest program of cadet training ever undertaken in the Army's Western Command.

Youngsters from 90 corps scattered from Vancouver Island to the Saskatchewan border will converge on camps at Vernon, Vancouver, Soree and Banff. Most boys will get seven weeks training.

Largest camp will be at Vernon where 600 boys, first from each province, will undertake a seven-week training period July 4 to August 20. Four hundred will take "senior leaders" training and 200 will learn driving and maintenance of army vehicles.

Signal training this year will be in Vancouver where 132 cadets scheduled to receive seven weeks training July 4 to August 20 in the use of army wireless and telephone equipment. The boys will occupy special quarters now being prepared in the Jericho area.

The Soree camp will provide a two-week basic training course for 300 youngsters July 24 to August 6, specially designed for younger boys. The National Cadet Camp will be at Banff, a three-week "award" camp for 18 B.C. and Alberta boys among some 200 specially-selected cadets from all parts of Canada.

PREPARE CAMPS

Work to prepare the Vernon and Vancouver camps has been an extensive operation in recent weeks, particularly at Vernon which has been largely in "moth-halls" since year's end. But the department is reviewing its original intention of arming auxiliary squadrons—the RCAP reserve—with the complex, heavy jet.

The defence minister took time to answer Mr. Drew's earlier criticism of the retirement of Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, 52, as chief of the general staff next Aug. 31. Mr. Campney said there is no "mysterious secrecy whatever" in the decision.

The retirement had been settled in a "very frank and pleasant conversation" he had with Gen. Simonds last February, four years after the general's appointment to the post on Feb. 1, 1951.

"It is generally regarded—there is no law, no directive—that senior officers should be retired on a four-year rotation", Mr. Campney said. This was done so as not to delay promotion of officers coming up through the ranks.

He referred to a statement issued by Mr. Drew outside the Commons a week earlier accusing the government of putting a "cloak of mysterious secrecy" around Gen. Simonds' retirement. The statement said the general had been retired "under circumstances which demand a full and satisfactory explanation".

Mr. Campney said: "I suggest the leader of the opposition started off to ride a political horse and fell off—or was pulled off".

Fisheries Minister Sinclair interjected: "It was not a horse he was riding, it was a jackass".

Mr. Drew replied sharply that the minister had made "an amusing comment". He said he had asked the Commons for information after the general's retirement, publicly.

"Nothing I have done has contributed to any of the uncertainty", he said, to which Mr. Campney replied: that is "a matter of opinion".

Dredging being carried out vicinity Whiteman's Creek

Swings Landing—Working eight hours a day, in two shifts of nine hours each, federal public works department Dredge No. 324 is operating at the log booming grounds near Whiteman's Creek where timber from higher levels on the creek and its tributaries is assembled.

Sixteen men are employed with Captain W. Allen in charge of the project.

Dredging is being carried on only of such established wharves and booming grounds as will be adversely affected by the proposed lowering of the level of Okanagan Lake.

Operating on cables attached to the dredge, and to the shore, a long tongue swings slowly from side to side. The grey superstructure of the dredge heightens the illusion of an elephant swinging its trunk.

A cutter, attached to the tongue, cuts into the lake bottom. By the use of a 3,400 h.p. pump, material is sucked up and passed through a long string of pipes carried by pontoons out into the lake for about 2,000 feet where soil is re-deposited at a point of depressed lake floor.

Approximately 3,000 cubic yards of material is removed per day. On this average, it will take approximately three weeks to finish the project at Whiteman's Creek; but clay at this point is extremely hard, so the time factor is uncertain.

Work commenced at Naramata in July of last year. Points serviced since that time are Penticton, Trepanier and Kelowna. As the water is deep, no dredging was required at Peachland.

In the absence of Captain Allen, an informant refused to commit himself when asked if dredging would be done at Okanagan Landing, other than to say it was his understanding that water was sufficiently deep at that point for all practical purposes.

It was pointed out that the dredging of wharves and booming grounds is a separate project from the work being carried on in connection with the lengthening of water pipes.

The pulp and paper industry is making an increasingly more economic use of its wood resources.

Colorful costumes and variety of routines highlight annual revue as dancing school pupils also presented with diplomas

Jean Fuller School of Dancing annual revue, staged last Friday and Saturday in the Anglican parish hall, was a rousing success. Sponsored by the Anglican Drama Club, about 450 persons saw the program each night.

Following the show on Saturday, presentations were made to Jean Fuller, instructor, and Mrs. Dave McKeown, costume director, from the pupils, and various awards were given the pupils by the school.

Based on the lines of television programs, the show was divided into channels, each with a separate theme. Beginning with Channel One "Antics in a Toy Shop" the entire program was one of variety and radiant color.

As the curtains were opened dolls of every type were arranged about the stage... some in boxes, some sitting on low shelves, some standing here and there. In turn each little group of dolls seemingly came to life as the fairy princess waved her magic wand.

First the dainty dolls in their organdy dresses stepped from their boxes and performed their little dance. Farmerette dolls, dressed in jeans, plaid shirts and straw hats followed. Two sets of Raggedy Ann and Andy very vividly portrayed the limppiness of rag dolls.

One of the highlights of this first channel was the acrobatic number performed by Gail Steward and Rose Annette Gonia as two clowns or Jacks in the box.

DANCING COWBOYS

Rock a Bye dollies were the next group number and presented seven little girls with their baby dolls and doing their dance to the tune of Rock a Bye, Baby.

Dancing cowboys, David Newby and Donny Reed with their cardboard horses caused quite a sensation. Equally as attractive was the Red Riding Hood and the Wolf number. Young Nance-Ann LeBrun has the makings of a real ballerina some day. Use of her hands in particular was striking.

Dutch dollies in their blue and white costumes were another charming little group. Ann Pelly as the Indian maiden was featured in what could be termed an acrobatic dance. Other national dolls starring in the show were Lona Reed and Freda Cundy, as Scotch lassies doing the Highland fling, and Judy Sutherland and Gail McFetridge performing the sword dance. Penny Patrick in the Arabian slave dance put considerable feeling into this difficult number. Choice of appropriate music helped to set the mood in each dance.

Claire Gonia and Gloria Morrison, two of the school's more advanced pupils thrilled the audience with their Hawaiian dancing doll act. Final group tap was the Irish Colleen in their pretty green and white costumes.

Adding a final touch, the fairy princess, Evelyn Osmack, offers an appealing ballet solo, and curtain is drawn on the first half of the program.

SPORTS CHANNEL

Channel Two featured four senior girls in their gay jubilee tap number.

Channel Three, in the World of Sports, represented three different sports. Eight little cheer leaders in their bright little red and white satin costumes were led in their drill routine by cheer leader captain, Roger Pickering, in off to the football game. Darlen Shuman did a clever bit of baton swinging while Elaine Marty, Penny Patrick, Claire Gonia and Diane Newby presented a collegiate swing tap which included some snappy jive.

Complete with ring, the Boxing Night, represented a sparring match between Gary Fortney and Barry Genis. It takes concentration to keep the feet tapping out the rhythm of the music and at the same time to get sufficient movements in the arms to represent a boxing spree. Bout ended with a double knock-out.

TAP AND BALLET CLASSES

Channel Four, Television Camera as Visit the Dancing School, was divided into two parts, tap classes and ballet classes. First division began with the youngest in The Counting Song, and slightly older ones in Dancers on Parade. Jazz Strut Line with their attractive pink and black satin short coats, over their tights, and their black top hats were about ten and twelve year olds. Last class, the Teen Tappers, featured four girls of the advanced class and Barry Crawford, also a teenager in the senior class.

In Ballet portion, Our Five Positions, Posture Song and At the Barre, was demonstrative of the primary techniques learned in ballet classes. This division was ended with Nance-Ann LeBrun, Paddy Osmack, and Jennifer Lloyd-Jones dancing to I'd Like to be a Ballerina.

BALLROOM DANCING

Channel Five, Latin American Dance Hour, featured the popular music of the South beginning with a Tambourine Tango and Rumba Tap. Caravan presented Gloria Morrison, Rosemary Schlosser and Evelyn Osmack in an alluring tap routine. Orange jersey costume dresses with the one shoulder bared and the black eye mask provided the necessary added effects as the girls stole on to the stage from behind the scenery.

Jean Fuller and Verne Grauman ended the show with their Latin American dance interpretations of the Rumba, Samba and Tango.

PRESENTATIONS

On Friday evening, Jean Fuller's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Win Fuller, were in the audience. Mrs. Fuller, who has been in the hospital for past few weeks, was presented with a corsage before the show by her daughter and after the performance one of the pupils gave her a lovely bouquet of peonies. Mrs. Fuller is well known to the children and parents alike since she has assisted Jean Fuller in her administrative work on several occasions.

On Saturday evening, following the show, a number of awards were given including scholarships for four months of advanced lessons in ballet given to Claire Gonia, Rosemary Schlosser and Gloria Morrison. Marion Fuller and Barry Crawford, also members of the class assistance course, were given gifts from the school.

Perfect attendance awards went to Marie Beardmore, Trudy Clarke, Elizabeth Lang, and Sandra Galbraith. Claire Gonia was given a prize for selling the most tickets to the revue and Diane Schlosser took second prize.

In appreciation to her young daughters for their assistance with work at home during her busy hours, and for their understanding and consideration when she is tied up with her work in the studio, Jean Fuller presented Paddy Osmack with a small gift and gave to Evelyn, the older of the two, a travelling case for her forthcoming trip to Los Angeles. She intends to take a junior seminar course there while her mother takes advanced teacher training course.

SPECIAL RECOGNITION

In appreciation for the hours of extra time and the special efforts she has made on their behalf the pupils presented to Jean Fuller a beautiful cosmetic case and a lovely bouquet of flowers. For her hours of volunteer help the pupils gave to Mrs. Dave McKeown a suitable gift and a bouquet of flowers.

This year's presentation of the Jean Fuller School of Dancing revue was a spectacle of color and much praise is due Mrs. McKeown in this respect. There were several occasions when the little tots were not sure of what it was all about, but considering that a large percentage of the kiddies had only one year's training the net results were no less than amazing. As far as the advanced pupils were concerned their hours of practice showed up well in their performance.

Diploma ceremony, which was scheduled for June 26 at the studio will have to be postponed for this year due to lack of time to prepare for the occasion.

Arts council wants Canadian artists listed

Kelowna Arts Council last Friday night met in the board room of the regional library with president, Mrs. R. T. Graham, in the chair. In the absence of Mrs. Inez Acland, Miss Lynne Crossley presented the secretary's report.

It was decided the Arts Council would write Kelowna Civic Concert Series in October to ask that Canadian artists be put on the list of those available through Overture Concerts, Vancouver, represented by George Zukerman of The Cassini Woodwind Group, Vancouver.

In discussing Kelowna Recreation Commission it was pointed out that while Jim Pantion is regional consultant, Percy Downton is a part-time recreation director for the city.

Council members felt the more cultural side of KART should be emphasized. Mrs. D. Kerr and Mrs. Muriel Foulkes were appointed on KART with Mrs. Foulkes to remain a permanent member.

Calendar of events, published by the Vancouver Arts Council, listing all coming cultural activities, was studied with interest but Kelowna Arts Council felt such a publication here was beyond its means at the present time.

CLEARING HOUSE

An Arts Council is a clearing house for all cultural activities and Kelowna Council is constantly in receipt of requests asking if a summer dance school could be arranged, a music school, an art school, and so forth, by outside artists who wish to teach here in vacation time. At the moment Arts Council is looking for a suitable studio for the teaching of pottery.

Mrs. Arbuckle reported a garden party will be held at her home June 25, sponsored by The Stagettes, proceeds in aid of The Crippled Children's Hospital, Vancouver.

The secretary was instructed to write Jim Browne of CKOV expressing appreciation of the splendid musical programs offered. The publicity board in The Royal Anne Hotel came under discussion. Notices are placed here by Arts Council at no expense for groups or individuals advertising coming art exhibits, dance reviews and so forth. As complaints have been received by some of those using the board that notices are too small, the Arts Council decided that henceforth those wishing to use the board may post their own notices of coming events.

Deep regret was felt by Arts Council in the passing of the late Rufus Williams, artist, and supporter of the arts, the secretary being asked to write a letter of sympathy to the bereaved family.

Next meeting of Kelowna Arts Council is September 16.

More About 1 In the good old days

(Continued from page 2, col. 8.) ment could not act in the matter at the present time. It was thought that if it was impossible to get a free service the board should still keep after the government until the rates were modified. There was a strong complaint against the charge of $2.00 each way for an automobile, exclusive of passengers, while a heavy team and wagon could cross for $1.00. Finally the matter was left with the executive to deal with and with power to act and appeal against the ferry charges to the government.

CARMI ROAD

Mr. Groves called the attention of the board to the road being constructed by the government to Carmi, in the Boundary district, by way of Penitence which necessitated a long circuitous route with heavy grades. He pointed out that there was already a road, to Hydesville, a distance of two miles, and that from there to Carmi was a distance of only 18 miles. Thus a road could be constructed from Kelowna district, which would be less than half the distance of the road just starting through Penitence. Mr. Groves put his suggestion into the form of a resolution that the question of the continuation of the present road from Hydesville to Carmi be brought to the notice of the department by the transportation committee and that the committee report upon the matter at the next regular meeting of the board. The resolution carried.

Another motion carried was "that the executive be authorized to act in conjunction with those interested in the charges for switching railway cars which a view to getting a reduction in the switching charges." This was considered of the utmost importance as the C.P.R. had recently upped their charge from $1.00 to $2.50 per car.

The local Opera House was offering an "animated weekly" which consisted of the world's news in pictures. Two of the titles appearing in regard to this new attraction were "On the Battle Line" and "Pictures Take from a German Zeppelin." Amongst the casualties of the Princess Patricia there appeared the name of George Albert Batehlor, killed in action on Feb. 27th. Mr. Batehlor was well-known in the district having lived for a number of years at Wilson's Landing, later moving to Calgary. He had taken part in the diving competition at several of Kelowna's Regattas.

CANDIDATES CHOSEN

Liberal delegates from all parts of the South Okanagan constituency flocked into Kelowna to attend the meeting to nominate a candidate to run at the coming election. Leslie V. Rogers was selected by the nominating committee to be the Liberal candidate for the South Okanagan. Mr. Rogers came to Kelowna in 1911 and filled one term as assistant principal of the public school and another term as first assistant of the high school of which he became principal upon the resignation of Miss McNaughton at midsummer 1912.

The Conservatives of the South Okanagan held their convention in Kelowna and were unanimous in their choice of Mayor Jones as their candidate in the forthcoming election.

WAR EFFORT

A chance remark made to the editor of the "Courier" prompted him to do some research and it was found that Kelowna was sending more men overseas in comparison to population than the Mother Country itself. Among the industrial districts the South of Scotland has given 237 per 10,000 of population to the new armies. Such districts in Middlesex and Surrey have given 173 and in the North of Ireland, 127. The North of Scotland heads the agricultural districts with 93, as against 69 in the West of England and 52 in West and South of Ireland. The population of Kelowna and the district tributary to it probably does not exceed 6,000 yet, so far as we have been able to ascertain, about 200 men have volunteered through the 30th B.C. Horse, and the Rocky Mountain Rangers for active service. If, in addition, those are taken into account who have rejoined the colors either with the army or navy, as reservists, or have enlisted in the Army Service Corps, Royal Engineers, Army Medical Corps and other branches, the total must run up to at least 250. This is a splendid showing and practically equals, with our 6,000 people only, the highest total for 10,000 in industrial districts in the United Kingdom, while it completely transcends the agricultural districts in the Old Land, with which, of course, comparison alone, should be made. No better evidence could be furnished of Kelowna's devotion to the cause of Empire and it is a matter for pride that our district is more than doing its share to help in the greatest war of all time.

April

Pte. G. K. Hutchinson, of the 2nd Canadian Mounted Rifles, was killed.

ed almost instantly on Wednesday, March 24th, at Victoria by a kick from a horse which he was leading. He had joined the 30th B.C. Horse during times of peace and responded to the mobilization call on the outbreak of war.

FERRY TOLLS

In a letter to the editor Jas. I. Campbell of the Kelowna-Westbank ferry refused the statement made at a council meeting concerning the charges made. The correct charge on regular trips for an automobile was $2.00 INCLUSIVE of passengers and the correct charge for a "heavy team and wagon" was $2.25. Mr. Campbell pointed out that the average load on an automobile was supposed to be five passengers, but often 7 and 8, and sometimes as many as 13 persons had crossed with one car (and all for $2.00) and, as the fare for each passenger was 25 cents, it was very plain to see how small the charge for crossing really was.

GUINEA PIGS EMBARRASS

A letter of complaint came to council that covered something new. The correspondent, J. J. Docker, claimed that he had sold two guinea pigs from the park collection to his little boy on the understanding that they were a pair. The two animals were later discovered to be both females and Mr. Docker was dissatisfied with his son's purchase and wanted to be refunded. All of the aldermen promptly claimed that they knew nothing of the transaction and even the chairman of the parks committee denied any knowledge of the matter. An air of so much bashfulness was assumed by all at the table that the next matter was hastily turned to.

There was a letter from the city clerk of Armstrong with reference to the taxes on C.N.R. property which stated that their council had decided not to take any action, either jointly or otherwise, against the railway company until the action of the Burnaby municipality against the company on similar grounds should have been decided in the courts. It was felt that the result of this case would no doubt indicate whether it would be worthwhile for action to be taken in the Okanagan or not.

The problem of street sprinkling for the summer was once again discussed at a council meeting. It was decided that, owing to the large number of complaints received last year from residents in certain districts of the city against street watering, it would be advisable to water the streets in the business section and the streets having a large amount of traffic, having a double St. Bernard Ave. and Harvey Ave. Another suggestion which was made and supported by the entire council was that standards should be erected at certain places to fill the sprinklers thus saving the lengths of hose that leaked and causing inconvenient puddles of large size. It was the opinion too that the use of standards would moderate the flow of water when filling the wagons and consequently reduce the strain on the pumping appliances at the power house during a time when the domestic demand for water was very large.

CLEAN-UP DAY

The city fathers decided that Thursday, April 15th, should be set aside as a civic holiday for purposes of cleaning up accumulated garbage and rubbish from lots and lanes.

ELECTRIC IRON

An electric iron described as "the iron with the attached stand—heating element guaranteed for 10 years" appeared in an advertisement. The local branch of the Red Cross Society shipped a third bale of supplies to headquarters. As a special appeal was sent to all branches for surgical supplies the regular Tuesday afternoon meetings were given over to that work and an urgent request for clean old linen was made to the ladies.

HOSPITAL IN TROUBLE

The directors of the Kelowna hospital feared that it might be necessary to close the institution. During the month of March the total earnings of the hospital from patients in both the general and maternity buildings were $211.73. Expenses, including wages, maintenance, etc., without charging interest, depreciation or any other special expenses, were $383.81. There were outstanding debts that the hospital owed to merchants, generally for maintenance, of $1,357.00 to offset which there were patients' balances to the extent of $2,979.03. Of the latter amount there was a large percentage that could not be collected for some time and more than a small share of it that never would be collected. The directors felt that it was important that the public should know the exact condition of affairs as they had decided that, if there was no way of getting immediate assistance from somewhere to wipe out the indebtedness, the hospital would have to be closed at the end of May. It was needless to say that the directors were loath to take such a step but they did not feel that they could continue to ask merchants to supply goods any longer without seeing some chance of being able to pay the bills.

MISSION CREEK POWER

The question as to whether the city would purchase electric current and power from the proposed hydro-electric plant on Mission Creek was pushed to a more definite issue with the representative of the construction company discussing power charges with the city. The general impression was that the advantage gained direct by the city would be very slight as the charge for light would still stand about the same and could not be reduced. It was generally considered that the strongest argument in favor of dropping the proposal was the indirect benefit which the city would acquire from the district at large where the availability of power would prove a valuable acquisition in a variety of ways. In addition to this the city would be obtaining its power at a slight reduction, especially if the amount of power increased to a large consumption. Kelowna mourned the death of one of her most prominent and timely citizens in the person of Walter Robert Pooley, who passed away in the Kelowna hospital early on Friday morning, April 23, after a brief but severe illness of two weeks' duration.

May

The Westbank ferry took a shipment of 25,000 tons of opium across the lake for planting on the property of the Western Okanagan Orchards Co.

The following news story appeared in the columns of "Local and Personal News": "According to a statement published in Tuesday's 'Province', Capt. P. B. Allen, formerly of Kelowna, was shot in cold blood by the Germans after being taken prisoner. Finding themselves in a tight corner, the brutes got rid of their encumbering prisoner by shooting him in the stomach and leaving him weltering in his blood. He was picked up by the British but died a few days later in hospital in Boulogne. Before his death Capt. Allen recounted the treatment he had received and confirmed the story of the crucifixion of a Canadian sergeant by the Hun, which he witnessed in person."

CREAMERY FORMED

As published in the "Courier," "Last week the 'Garden' contains the certificate of incorporation of The Kelowna Creamery Co. Limited with a capital of $10,000, divided into 200 shares.

The freezer, ice-breaker, boiler, motor and the various tanks had been installed at the creamery. A raised floor had been built around the receiving door, an ice house and cold room had been constructed at the rear and as soon as the all-important churn arrived business would be commenced.

Noted, with regret, in the casualty list of the 7th Battalion, was the name of Pte. Douglas Maclelland Anderson, formerly of "E" Company R.M.R., Kelowna, posted as missing. His brother, J. C. Anderson, appeared among the wounded in a list issued a few days previously. Both of the young men were popular residents of the KLO Bench, where their sister still lived, and it was hoped that they would come out all right after all.

Following urgent representation by Capt. Rose that improvements be made in the methods of recruiting men locally for overseas service, the military authorities to take on at Kelowna, until further notice, all men volunteering for active service who were physically fit and complied with the requirements. Such recruits would be allowed a subsistence allowance of 75 cents per day until such time as they were called up to regimental headquarters at Kamloops or to join their battalion, and must drill daily until their departure. They would commence to draw pay, which was quite a different thing from subsistence allowance, from the date of their departure from Kelowna. Any men who wished to enlist were advised to interview Capt. G. Rose at the Courier office.

Ald. Copeland pointed out to his fellow council members that the roads were in dire need of surfaceing owing to the recent spell of bad weather. He advocated that the split log drag be put into use as soon as possible. He believed that from six to eight days' work with the drag, costing only from $30 to $40, would be sufficient to fill up the ruts and to prevent the surface from cutting through in a state of affairs which the city could positively not allow to take place from an economic point of view. This was conceded by the meeting and permission was granted to Ald. Copeland to proceed with the work as soon as weather permitted.

The first increments were not noticed by the militia department until May 22, on which day the news also arrived by letter from Sergt. Lloyd.

SOCK DAY

The local branch of the Red Cross Society celebrated Victoria Day, May 24, in a very practical way by combining it with "sock day." The result was the collection of no less than 248 pairs of socks for the soldiers at the front.

The names of Corp. W. J. Mathias and Pte. F. T. Fisher appeared on the casualty lists. Both were members of "E" Company, 102nd Regiment, Rocky Mountain Rangers, prior to the outbreak of war and volunteered with the first contingent. Corp. Mathias, who was 20 years of age and was a son of Lt.-Col. Mathias, lived on the KLO Bench, where he had an interest in a ranch. Pte. Fisher, who was only 19 years of age, resided in town with his father, Lee-Corp. J. T. Fisher, of the 102nd, and deep sympathy was felt for his sorrowing parents and two brothers and two sisters. A strange feature of the death of Pte. Fisher was that, while he was killed in action on April 22, his parents were not notified by the militia department until May 22, on which day the news also arrived by letter from Sergt. Lloyd.

"Joe Pierre, Indian policeman on the Westbank reserve, so far forgot the dignity of his position one day last week as to load up with fire water. Fortified by the 'dutch courage' that he had swallowed he threatened to 'run in' Provincial Constable McDonald, just to show the latter that he was not the only pebble on the beach. Constable McDonald was not having any, however, and he speedily collared his dusky confrere whom he led before Police Magistrate Weddell. Result: one month in Vernon jail for being intoxicated. Joe was taken to Vernon by Constable McDonald."

June

Arrival at Penitence of the first 1st passenger train on the Kettle Valley Railway was celebrated on May 31 by a banquet held in the Hotel Incola. The banquet was given jointly by the municipal council, the board of trade and the management of the Kettle Valley Railway Company. Over 150 people were present including several leading business men from the coast and prominent citizens of the Interior of the province.

CREAMERY OPERATES

The creamery, located in the block north of the Bank of Montreal on Water St. was in operation. Ice cream was its first product but butter making proper was to start on June 4 when the first supply of ripened cream would be available.

CANNERY

Thanks to the public spirit of a local syndicate in which were included Messrs. D. Leckie, T. Bulman, W. Haug, D. W. Sutherland, Geo. Ritchie, D. Lloyd-Jones, Casorso Bros., P. B. Willis & Co. and Dr. Boyce, there was a very strong possibility that the cannery would operate during the coming season. A syndicate was formed by the gentlemen named with a cash capital of $10,000 to organize a joint-stock company and lease the cannery for the current year from the liquidator with the option of purchase. Should the local venture prove to be a success its promoters would reorganize on a larger scale the next year and would float stock in order to take up the option on the cannery. An opportunity was to be offered to all shareholders in the Western Canneries to take stock and thus protect, in a measure, their original investment.

The extent of the May rainfall as compared to other years was the subject of a good deal of discussion and in order to obtain data the Courier staff made search of its files back to 1907. The interesting fact was revealed that the rainfall for the past month was much heavier than for the same month in the preceding eight years. The figures for May were as follows:

No. of Days	Total Rain	inches
1915	14	2.55
1914	6	.87
1913	8	1.91
1912	4	.38
1911	9	1.09
1910	7	1.21
1909	6	.73
1907	6	1.45
1908	10	.90

Rember Paul informed the Courier that he was prepared to donate for the purpose of a home for men disabled in the war the tract of 160 acres, situated a few miles north of Kelowna, with lake frontage, which he originally intended as a residence for necessitous old people. He stated that he was much disappointed that his offer to the City of Kelowna for the latter purpose had not been taken advantage of. He therefore considered himself free to devote the lands and buildings to another good purpose. Since he formed the plan to erect an institution for the aged, he had constructed large and commodious buildings and had made provision for additional accommodation. The premises were practically ready for occupation.

The following item appeared under "Local & Personal News": "Mr. Robert Haldane received the news a few days ago that his brother had been killed at the front and, with proper spirit, he at once enlisted for overseas service in the 54th Battalion, and will endeavour to even up the score. He and Mr. C. R. S. Blackaby are awaiting orders to join the 54th on its mobilization within the next few days."

FIRE BLIGHT

Owing to serious outbreak of fire blight in the Glenmore valley, and in order that all fruit growers might become acquainted with this dangerous disease and with the proper methods of controlling and eradicating it from their orchards, a practical demonstration of these methods was to be held on Lot 17, Glenmore Road, by James Brydon, district inspector of fruit pests.

Of the Kelowna men who joined the 7th Battalion all had been killed, disabled or taken prisoner with the exception of Sgt. D. D. Lloyd and Cpl. C. W. Wall.

In the latest casualty list Pte. Francis C. Bowman of the 15th Battalion, who was previously posted as missing, was reported as "missing and dead."

Under the heading of "This Is Better Than Immigration," eleven births were listed in the Courier.

RAILWAY'S TAXES

A letter to the council from North Vancouver complained of the manner in which they, together with a number of other municipalities in the province, were being deprived of a certain amount of revenue by the exemption from taxation given to certain railway companies incorporated under provincial charter, in respect to properties owned by them within the municipality. The communication went on to suggest that an endeavor should be made to arrange for an early joint consultation at which representatives from the various councils, acting together, could arrange for a joint deputation to be sent to the government. This, naturally met with the hearty endorsement of the local council. The clerk was asked to reply that Kelowna would be quite willing to co-operate in such a matter. In the meantime Mr. Dunn was asked to find out definitely what had transpired in the recent case brought before the courts by the Burnaby Corporation along the same lines.

UNPAID TAXES

The council received the estimate for 1915. The levy was $18,000 less than the last year but even so was higher than anticipated owing to a shrinkage of $7,000 in the revenue from light and water. This shrinkage added an additional four mills to the general rate and necessitated a saving of $28,000 in the other departments. There were $48,691 of unpaid taxes dating back to 1910 against which the city had a loan of $36,000. It was advised that every effort should be made to collect these taxes as until that no extension be granted as has been the practice in former years. As the city was not paying them a grant any longer the band asked the council to give them permission to take up a collection once a month to defray expenses. Such permission was readily granted, in such that a tax sale seems to be quite in order if they took a collection every week and permission was also granted for them to do this if they should find it necessary. Cyril Weddell volunteered for active service and was accepted as a member of the 47th Battalion.

SPORTS SPHERE

Baseball roundabout

By GEORGE INGLIS

Matinee — In Sunday's game against Vernon, the Orioles won in extra innings, with a show of spirit that was commendable in the face of the early innings.

It looks like manager Rudy Kitch has the makings of a real ball team in the late-starting aggregation, but they yet have a lot of rough spots to be smoothed out.

The battery of Ball and Kiehlbiski are a hard-working, effective combination, with Ball supplying the youth and stamina on the mound, and Kiehlbiski the ball savvy from the catcher's spot. In addition to their pitching and catching chores, both men are good hitters, and Kiehlbiski supplies a steady influence to the younger players.

The team needs lots of work in the fielding department, to get rid of those small errors that often mean a ball game, and could do with more pepper and bounce in the infield.

On the credit side of the ledger, their spirit and good sportsmanship are commendable, and pleasant to see in these days of player-hassles. In spite of a bad start this season, the boys have continued to work hard, and now that they are beginning to win a few games, may go places.

Summerland, long top of the league, winnings on Sunday by default when Pentiction walked off the field in protest over the way the game was being handled by officials. At the same time Kamloops was beating league-leading Oliver in one end of a double-header.

Next Sunday local fans will have the opportunity of seeing the Orioles in action against Oliver at the Elks Stadium, and on Wednesday Kelowna travels to Pentiction for a game with the disgruntled Sox. A couple of wins for the local boys could change the mainline picture considerably.

Interior League — Sunday's play in Vernon and Revelstoke saw Kamloops Jay-Rays move into the top spot, Revelstoke in second, N. Kamloops Mohawks in third, and Rutland Adanacs tied with Vernon Silver Stars for fourth place.

Adanacs will be battling it out all along the line with Silver Stars for a place in the play-offs, and their home games, one in each town, may easily be the deciding factor in deciding who is in and who is out.

The play in the Interior League is fairly close, and now that the Head of the Lake team has dropped out, competition between the remaining five teams should be stiff. Rutland stands a good chance of making the playoffs if they can down Vernon in the next two games, even if they don't win any others.

After losing a few valuable players at the beginning of the season to Revelstoke, and some to the mainline Orioles, the Adanacs are rounding into better shape, and hope for a better wind-up to the season.

Kelowna fans will be able to see Rutland and Orioles in action in an exhibition tilt this Friday night at the Elks Stadium. Game will supply needed practice for both teams.

Juvenile League — Sunshine Service and Buzzards are tied for the top spot with Burns third, and Pills still winless.

The league was started this year under the enthusiastic guidance of Sgt. Kelly Irving, and league president Milo Sawatsky.

Mr. Sawatsky reports that enthusiasm is high, and arrangements have been made with Oriole's manager, Rudy Kitch, to have the two teams play exhibition games to gain much-needed experience.

Tonight's game will see Sunshine Service in action against the Burns at 6:30 p.m. in the Elks Stadium.

Little and Pony leagues — In the pint-sized Kingdom of Swat, the Chiefs lead the Little League, and the Panthers are on top in the Pony League.

A comparatively new venture in Kelowna, the leagues have made great strides so far this year, having their own diamond in the City Park, their own small grandstand, and an increasingly efficient organization.

Starting out the season with very little behind them, they now have all teams issued with caps, and have a reserve which they plan to use for the purchase of uniforms next spring.

There's a great deal of spirit in the young players and the spectators are always assured of good scrappy ball that makes up in enthusiasm what it may lack in polish.

Tonight, it's Sabres against the leading Panthers in the Pony League, and tomorrow night it's Dodgers and Pirates in the Little League. Both games are at 6:30 in City Park.

Men's softball — Club 13's victory on Monday over winless Junior High put them in top place, with one more game played than Rovers and Sunshine Service, who are tied in the second spot.

Play in the league has been fairly even so far this season, with the exception of the Junior High boys, don't have quite the seasoning the other clubs have.

It's just about impossible to pick out a possible winner in the league, evenly distributed between the top three teams, but the week-end should tell a tale.

Club 13 meets Rovers on Sunday, and Sunshine Service on Monday, and the results of those games will give a better indication how the standings are going to go.

Women's softball — In the ladies' league, Rutland Rovettes seem to have the edge on the others with the experience, and Aces run them a good second. Deuces are a hard-working aggregation, but lack the polish of the other nine, and lose a lot of their points on errors.

Tomorrow night the Aces and Deuces play in the City Park oval at 6:30 p.m.

NO LONGER DUMMY — OSHAWA, Ont. — The poker face of Oshawa's city hall clock has sprung into life. Eighteen months after the building was completed, engineers removed dummy wooden hands and fitted the clock mechanism complete with movable metal hands.

Bruins want to play exhibition boxla tilts with outside teams

Coast and Kootenay lacrosse teams will be contacted immediately for as many exhibition games as it is possible to arrange, according to Kelowna Bruins' secretary-manager, Al Mearns.

Mr. Mearns' statement came as the result of an emergency player's meeting following the cancellation of Thursday night's game in Kelowna with Vernon Tigers.

Tigers' Sarg Sammartino phoned to say he would be unable to field a team, due to some of the players refusal to play until they had a more definite understanding on the status of the home-and-home games between two clubs.

The older players were quite agreeable to come, and following the game, a meeting had been slated between the two clubs, but some of the younger players felt this was not satisfactory.

"We have a fine lacrosse team, a good place to play in, and we will find opponents," said Mr. Mearns. The players heartily concurred with him.

PLAN MEETING

Mr. Mearns contacted Dr. J. A. Urquhart, league president, and some definite plan for a meeting and resolution of plans for Okanagan play will have to be decided on, but in the meantime the Bruins want to play lacrosse.

The players agreed heartily that Mr. Mearns should take immediate steps to have Coast League and Kootenay teams come in for exhibition play, to give the fans a chance to see the starry lacrosse the local boys are capable of dishing out.

Enderby youth better Junior jump record

Larry Yakimovitch, of Vernon, and Jerry Reimer, of Enderby, were the standouts in the track and field trials held in Kelowna last week, preparatory to the B.C. Interior Track and Field meet this Saturday in the Orchard City.

Reimer, 17-year-old schoolboy from Enderby, jumped 6' 1/4", 2" better than the Canadian Junior record.

Yakimovitch, Vernon track ace, took the 100 in 10.2, equalling the high school record, and bettered any previous Okanagan Valley time in the 220, with 23.00. This time is just slightly slower than the B.C. record of 22.5, set by B. Springett of Vancouver Arctic Club last year.

Eugene Fandrick took the 440 in 54.3, just under four seconds slower than the 50.7 set by D. Clement of Vancouver Western Club in 1953. Marilyn Hein of Vernon took the girls sprints with 7.4 in the 60 yds., and 12.4 in the 100. Her best time in the 60 yards is just one-tenth of a second away from the record of 7.3 set by R. Hughes of Vancouver IBEW in 1953.

Local High school teacher William Parnell ran a three-quarter mile in 3:29.

Russel Handlin, Kelowna high jumper, missed the bar at 6' 9", although he has done 5' 9 1/4".

Club 13 blanks Junior High by 10-0 count

In the men's softball Monday night, Club 13's pitcher, John Weninger, pitched a one-hitter shut-out, as his team blanked Junior High 10-0, to advance to first place.

Weninger earned eight strikeouts, and catcher Wally Sehn hit three for five, in the one-sided action.

Joe Welder, Pete Weninger, Wally Sehn and Bill Eleasoff all brought in two counters apiece.

The win put Club 13 in first place, with one game more played than Rovers and Sunshine Service, who are tied for second spot.

Club 13's pitcher, John Weninger; catcher, Wally Sehn; infield, Joe Schneider, B. Reiser, R. Sieb, Joe Welder; outfield, Pete Weninger, Bill Eleasoff, Don Wort.

Local cricket team defeated by Vernon

Vernon's heavy hitting George Leng batted in 69 runs, as his team won their first game of the season against Kelowna's cricket eleven, on Sunday at Vernon.

The win ties Vernon and Kelowna for second place, with Naramata in top place.

Batting first under ideal conditions, Kelowna was soon in trouble and at one point had lost five wickets for only 14 runs. Some determined defence by Jeffrey helped to steady the balance of the innings, but Kelowna went out for 44 runs.

Vernon's Mizen took five wickets for 13 runs, and George Leng almost bowled a hat-trick.

Vernon opened their batting in determined fashion, with their lead-off batters, Leng and Mizen reaching 41 before Mizen was caught out by Angus. Leng went on to pile up runs, despite keen Kelowna bowling, and finally went down at 69, to a one-handed catch by Lomax.

Vernon's innings closed at 123, having beaten Kelowna by nine wickets.

CHANGE IN TRAFFIC

VICTORIA — Passengers on British Columbia Electric Co. services have decreased about 17 per cent since the company took over all routes in 1950. A spokesman said the figure almost equals the increase in private motor car registrations.
